Schwartz 'Charges' Assailed

Mack To Fight Accusation He Accepted Money

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack served notice today he will fight charges that he accepted money in a TV case under his jurisdiction.

Asserting the charges are reckless and without foundation, Mack asked an early opportunity to answer them before the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, whose ousted chief counsel Bernard Schwartz made the accusations in an open hearing Thursday.

Subcommittee Chairman Harris (D-Ark) said Mack will get a chance to be heard very soon, perhaps early next week.

Mack said he has volunteered to cooperate fully with the FBI in an investigation ordered by Atty. Gen. Rogers in the wake of Schwartz's testimony. He told reporters he has given no thought to resigning his Federal Communications Commission post.

Told House Group

Schwartz told the House group that Mack has acknowledged getting several thousand dollars from Miami lawyer Thurman A. White-side before FCC awarded a television license for Channel 10 in Miami to a National Airlines subsidiary.

White-side was representing the television company at the time, Schwartz said, adding that Mack told subcommittee investigators the money he got from White-side came in the form of loans which he had no distinct recollection of repaying.

White-side said in Miami that he never was retained by the airline subsidiary but that he did recommend awarding of the license to that company. He said that as an old friend he had loaned money to Mack for 20 years—and all but $230, he said, has been repaid.

Mack himself remained silent until he sent a letter today to Chairman Harris asking an early opportunity to "answer the unsubstantiated charges, accusations, innuendoes and distortions so recklessly made by Bernard Schwartz."

The 48-year-old Mack, a onetime insurance man and former chairman of the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, told Harris: "I am confident that when all the facts are presented to your committee you will conclude that the accusations of Bernard Schwartz are without foundation."

Hermes Parade Cancelled For 1958 Carnival

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Carnival festivities stayed indoors tonight as the weather again dampened the spirit of abandon.

This time it was rain. Muggy skies and a fine misting rainfall settled over the usually balmy city.

The parade of Hermes, mythical winged courier of the Greek gods, was cancelled for the season. It was scheduled to roll tonight. Wednesday night a blanket of snow chased in Babylon.

Hermes, along with Apollo, regaled over costume balls in separate sections of Municipal Auditorium.

Babylon, whose parade was postponed Wednesday by what the city physician called "unseasonably weather," has rescheduled his parade for noon tomorrow.

The weatherman foresaw a low temperature tonight of 42-46 degrees and a high tomorrow of 46-50, with increasing winds and rain.

The Momus parade was held last night with the thermometer showing 36 degrees. Momus, god of ridicule and mockery, led out his knights while thousands jammed the parade route.

Visitors continued a trek into the city. Movie star Zsa Zsa Gabor was among them. She arrived from Miami last night.

A mystery developed when she vanished from sight. Later it was learned she lunched aboard the highly-guarded yacht of Lt. Gen. (Continued On Page Two-A)

Marine's Ouster Ordered Reversed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Court of Military Appeals today threw out the conviction of Marine Pfc. Frederick A. Renton, who had been sentenced out of the service for roughing up recruits at Parris Island.

The court upset the verdict because the judge at Renton's court-martial on the South Carolina base helped draft charges against the former drill instructor.

POLARIS BOATS

Navy Expedites Its Sub Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP) The Navy started its ballistic missile submarine program rolling today with announcement that construction of two Polaris boats will begin in Connecticut and a third in California.

The assignment to build two of the giant-size intermediate-range ballistic missiles while beneath the sea, went to the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at Groton, Conn., the firm which built the Nautilus, forerunner of nuclear-powered submarines like the Polaris boats.

The Mare Island naval shipyard located near Vallejo, Calif., will build the other.

Rear Adm. W. F. Raborn, special projects director, said the two yards were picked because this would permit the earliest possible completion dates.

Considers Others
Rear Adm. A. G. Mumma said studies of other yards are under consideration for use when additional Polaris submarine construction programs are approved.

This was a reference to the fact that the Navy is asking Congress for permission to build six Polaris missile subs in addition to the three now provided for under an emergency construction program.

The first Polaris submarine probably will be completed by the Electric Boat Division, which had been doing preparatory work even as Congress considered a 296-million-dollar item for the craft in a supplemental appropriation bill.

The first sub probably will cost between 105 and 110 million dollars. Techniques developed are expected to lower the price tag to 90 million dollars or less for the other craft.

The Polaris submarine will be the largest submersible known—unless the huge, new Soviet fleet includes a type unheard of here.

Big Sub
Surfaced, it will displace 5,600 tons, compared with about 3,000 tons for the Nautilus.

Within the huge hull will be 16 vertical tubes in which the IRBM Polaris weapons will be mounted and from which they will be fired.

With the 1,500-mile range, this means that a Polaris submarine can lob 16 rockets into the heartland of an enemy while concealed under the ocean surface. Each missile can mount a hydrogen warhead, capable of causing vast destruction. (Continued On Page Two-A)

U.S. Admits Some Danger In Weapons

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A government statement today conceded that an accidental crash involving a nuclear weapon could cause a poisonous dust cloud. But it said the dust would be harmless unless inhaled.

In a joint announcement apparently designed to quiet concern, the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission said that planes, trains and trucks have been telling nuclear weapons around for 12 years, that there have been few accidents and that none has caused a nuclear explosion.

How many accidents have occurred, and where, the two agencies declined to say, despite published reports that there have been several in recent years.

Cold Air Renewing Invasion

No Warmup In Sight For Most Of Eastern U. S.

By UNITED PRESS

Blowing snows and another invasion of Arctic air crushed hopes for a quick end to the East's marathon cold wave Friday.

The cold relaxed its grip briefly in parts of the Midwest and in frost-riddled Florida. But weathermen said icy temperatures would soon return to these areas and there was no warmup in sight for other parts of the East.

For the second time in a week, a New Orleans Mardi Gras parade was cancelled because of the cold. Snows tied up St. Louis traffic for the second time in 15 days and spread northeastward. In Kentucky, emergency measures were ordered for Middlesboro residents who have been shivering in a gas shortage for two days.

President Eisenhower, vacationing at Thomasville, Ga., in hopes of shaking a cold, took one look at the 22-degree thermometer reading and decided to stay inside and play bridge.

Rescue 50 From Mine

In the West, two mammoth snowslides crashed down a canyon two miles east of Telluride, Colo. Fifty men were trapped inside a mine for three hours until they were dug free.

The weather death count mounted remorselessly, fed by a rash of killer fires sparked by overheated stoves.

A United Press count since the start of the cold wave Feb. 6 showed a total of 149 persons dead because of exposure, exhaustion and weather-caused traffic accidents or fires.

There were 26 dead in New York, 19 in Oklahoma, 16 in New England, 14 in Ohio, 12 in Texas, 10 in Indiana, 7 in Pennsylvania and Virginia, 6 in Michigan, Mississippi and North Carolina, 5 in South Carolina, 4 in Missouri, 3 in Illinois and Minnesota, 2 in Maryland and 1 each in Alabama, 3 in Illinois and Minnesota, 2 in (Continued On Page Two-A)

Early Decision Promised On Phone Rates

Commissioner John J. McKeithen, Jr. yesterday said he assured a Shreveport delegation that the Louisiana Public Service Commission will not linger in deciding the telephone rate issue.

But McKeithen said the decision would be based on "strictly evidence" brought out at a hearing scheduled for Baton Rouge, February 26, 27 and 28th. A decision is expected in early March, he said.

McKeithen met with industrial committee of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce in his Monroe office, where he said a general discussion of the case was held in a "genial and harmonious atmosphere."

Howard Crumley, spokesman of the Shreveport group, told a reporter that the meeting was held to obtain the commission's side of the issue and to urge an immediate decision.

He said the case was of importance to the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce because the expansion program of Southern Bell Telephone Co. "plays a part of the industrial climate."

"We want to see Southern Bell Telephone Company in a position where it can proceed with its program of construction," Crumley was quoted as saying.

Promise
In an interview following the morning meeting, McKeithen said the commission would do everything within its power to "see that Southern Bell resumes its normal expansion program."

He said a decision would be (Continued On Page Five-A)

Area Mayors Seek Liquor Tax Measure

Mayors from approximately 25 northeast Louisiana towns yesterday launched action calling for an additional liquor tax with revenues to be dedicated to municipal funds.

A resolution will be presented at the Louisiana Municipal Association proposing legislative action levying a 40 cent per gallon tax on wine and whiskey.

The move was taken here yesterday at a meeting of the Fifth District Louisiana Municipal Association.

The group previously defeated a proposal from the legislative committee to request that surplus from a state five and three-quarter mills tax be turned over to the cities.

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard of Monroe presented the proposal that millage be raised on a local level, leaving property taxing to the cities.

However, Rep. T. T. Fields of Farmerville reported that after the freezing of sufficient funds to retire state bonds, three quarters of the tax would remain. This amount has been reserved for a Confederate pension fund which would not expire until 1960.

Engineer Union Gets New Chief

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—An old-time labor leader, Joseph J. Delaney, today took over as president of the scandal-ridden International Union of Operating Engineers and pledged a thorough cleanup.

Delaney, 62, came up through labor ranks in New York City as a close friend of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Pledging specifically to move in to correct alleged IUOE abuses in Chicago, San Francisco and Long Island N.Y., Delaney promised cooperation with separate Senate and AFL-CIO probes into his union's affairs and a prompt followup of any corruption charges developed.

Delaney was elected at a special meeting of the IUOE executives Board to succeed the ailing 77-year-old William E. Maloney, millionaire 16-year ruler of the union who quit two weeks ago and is in retirement at a lavish island home here.

THREE-YEAR LOW

U. S. Industrial Output Skidding

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported Friday that industrial production in January skidded to the lowest level in nearly three years. It was the fifth month in a row that industrial output had dropped.

The report was issued by the Federal Reserve Board as Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland urged Congress not to become a "rubber stamp" for President Eisenhower in approving job-creating public works programs.

Knowland told a news conference that continuing reclamation and other federal public works at normal levels would help "combat unemployment" and reduce any need for "another WPA" such as was created in the depression thirties.

The reserve board said its industrial production index stood at 133 in January, a drop of three points from December and its lowest point since February, 1955. The index was 8 per cent below last summer and 9 per cent under January, 1957.

The board blamed most of the drop on sharp cutbacks in hard goods industries in January, including automobiles, manufacturing equipment and other consumer durable goods.

FOR ARAB WORLD

Merger Hailed As Unity Step

AMMAN, Jordan, Feb. 14 (AP)—Kings Faisal of Iraq and Hussein of Jordan linked their governments today in a federal union. Their spokesman hailed this swift response to the recently proclaimed Egyptian-Syrian union as a step toward total Arab unity, but the immediate effect was to spotlight the rivalry between two Arab camps.

The merger — the spokesman called it an "Arab federation"—left the future of Iraq's participation in the American-supported Baghdad Pact in doubt. It is the only Arab nation in the alliance, a target of violent attack by Arab nationalists ever since it was formed in 1955.

A hint of challenge to the Egyptian-Syrian United Arab Republic proclaimed two weeks ago was implicit in the statements of Iraqi and Jordanian leaders who shared the new merger. They called the federation superior to the Egyptian-Syrian union and claimed their method was the more normal way for two sovereign states to unite.

Joins Hashemite
The Baghdad-Amman federation joins the two Hashemite kingdoms' armies, foreign policies, and economic and financial affairs, but each of the 22-year-old second cousins retains his throne and each state retains its separate government and its sovereignty.

In this the federation differed from the Egyptian-Syrian union, in which President Nasser of (Continued On Page Two-A)

Monroan Takes Ride At Gunpoint To Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — City Police were on the lookout for a hitchhiker who, a Monroe man told authorities, had forced him at gunpoint to drive here from Monroe late yesterday.

Police said Pittman L. Shields, who gave his address as 313 Pecan Dr., Monroe, told them an unidentified white hitchhiker abducted him in Monroe about 11:10 a.m. yesterday. Shields told police he had offered the gunman a ride when he saw him standing in the rain near Shields' home.

According to officials, Shields said the man ordered him to write a check in Monroe to buy food before forcing him to drive to Lake Charles. On arriving here, Shields was allegedly told to buy some food at a cafe and said he returned to his car to find the man gone.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—Muscle and mind-sapping fatigue that could be fatal to a man on a real trip to the moon plagued experimental "spaceman" Donald G. Farrell Friday in his earth-bound but airtight space cabin at the School of Aviation Medicine.

Scientists noted the onset of "real fatigue" during the night, when Farrell, 23, of New York City's Bronx, was rousing out on his fifth day in the cabin. He skipped two problems in radar tracking. His reaction time on other problems lagged.

But Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of the school's department of space medicine, said Farrell shows "no indication he wants to get out."

Steinkamp said he expects Farrell to stay in the three-by-five (Continued On Page Two-A)

France Gives New Warning To Tunisians

TUNIS, Tunisia (UP) — Blockaded French military garrisons began running out of food Friday. The Tunisian government kept its pressure on them by rejecting a French protest which warned of "grave consequences" if the siege continued.

At the Tunis suburb of Kassar Said, where 200 French soldiers are stationed, men were seen slaughtering one of their horses Friday morning. But French helicopters managed to drop supplies to isolated bases in the southern part of the country.

The blockade situation remained explosive, although Tunisian officials did not protest the use of helicopters to supply some bases.

In a few cases, Tunisian authorities closed their eyes and permitted local businessmen to furnish food to isolated camps.

In Algiers, the French reported an Algerian rebel attack from across the Tunisian border 90 miles south of Duivier. The rebels withdrew into Tunisia, the French said.

In Paris the government warned it would protect its 15,000 troops in Tunisia "in all circumstances."

The Tunisian people appeared to be heeding the appeal of President Habib Bourguiba for calm. No incidents were reported during a four-hour, anti-French general strike that was almost 100 per cent effective.

Streets were deserted and shops were shuttered from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Then Tunis returned to normal.

Police Guard Roadblocks
Police guarded all embassies, particularly the French embassy, but no attacks were made on foreign properties.

Some 4,000 Tunisian civilian employees at French military establishments walked out.

Roads to French troop encampments remained blocked by cars, tractors, threshing machines and stone barricades.

Police and guardsmen stood watch at the roadblocks.

Texas Wine Lovers Enjoy Train Crash

PADUCAH, Tex. (UP) — Ten cars of a freight train carrying wine, fruits and vegetables were derailed two miles west of Paducah Friday, and wine lovers quickly took advantage of the situation.

They collected empty bottles, rushed to the derailed cars and caught the wine as it dripped from the broken bottles until a railroad guard was posted at the scene.

There were no injuries in the derailment of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific railroad train.

Railroad officials said the derailment was started by a "hot box." A journal burned out, causing the wheels to drop off the 10th car behind the engine. The other cars piled up behind it.

The derailment ripped up 500 feet of track and damaged the track for a considerable distance behind that. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

White said in Miami that he never was retained by the airline subsidiary but that he did recommend awarding of the license to that company. He said that as an old friend he has loaned money to Mack for 20 years—and all but $250, he said, "been repaid."

Mack himself remained silent until he sent a letter today to Chairman Harris asking an early opportunity to "answer the unsubstantiated charges, accusations, innuendoes and distortions so recklessly made by Bernard Schwartz."

The 48-year-old Mack, a onetime insurance man and former chairman of the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission, told Harris: "I am confident that when all the facts are presented to your committee you will conclude that the accusations of Bernard Schwartz are without foundation."

Latest experiences comprise his announcing quite cheily that he plans to purchase a Cadillac car for the "little" sum of $7,500. One man to whom he talked was favorably impressed and when the yarn was retold it far exceeded the figure just given.

An admiring fellow worker complimented his associate. "Oh thunder that $7,500 is nothing to pay for a real car! Say $12,000 and you have something worth talking about!" was the chap's rejoinder.

Ultimately narrowed down as to how he, a newcomer, who not too long ago came to the States from Greece, could have made such financial progress he broke down and confessed.

"I was just having a little fun with fellow workers. I have no intention of spending a fortune for a car. I just wanted to try it out on you fellows to see if they would accept or reject the yarn I was promoting."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A government statement today conceded that an accidental crash involving a nuclear weapon could cause a poisonous dust cloud. But it said the dust would be harmless unless inhaled.

In a joint announcement apparently designed to quiet concern, the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission said that planes, trains and trucks have been totting nuclear weapons around for 12 years, that there have been few accidents and that none has caused a nuclear explosion.

How many accidents have occurred, and where, the two agencies declined to say, despite published reports that there have been several in recent years.

The Pentagon-AEC statement defined a nuclear explosion as one involving "fission or fusion reaction creating a large explosive effect." No such reaction has occurred in any of the accidents, it was stressed.

But, said the agencies, some nuclear weapons contain some ordinary chemical explosives like TNT—apparently for purposes of pushing fission sections together swiftly to create the "critical mass" required for explosion or to contribute to pressure-produced heat required for fusion.

A plane crash or severe train wreck could touch off this conventional explosive. The statement said that this kind of an accident has occurred on a few occasions

Blowing snows and another invasion of Arctic air crushed hopes for a quick end to the East's marathon cold wave Friday.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—An old-time labor leader, Joseph J. Delaney, today took over as president of the scandal-ridden International Union of Operating Engineers and pledged a thorough cleanup.

Delaney, 62, came up through labor ranks in New York City as a close friend of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Pledging specifically to move in to correct alleged IUOE abuses in Chicago, San Francisco and Long Island N.Y., Delaney promised cooperation with separate Senate and AFL-CIO probes into his union's affairs and a prompt followup of any corruption charges developed.

Delaney was elected at a special meeting of the IUOE Executive Board to succeed the ailing 77-year-old William E. Maloney, millionaire 18-year ruler of the union who quit two weeks ago and is in retirement at a lavish island home here.

Police Chief Lawrence Farrell said the man told officers his wife had been sleeping in the rear seat under a quilt.

THREE-YEAR LOW

U.S. Industrial Output Skidding

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government reported Friday that industrial production in January skidded to the lowest level in nearly three years. It was the fifth month in a row that industrial output had dropped.

The report was issued by the Federal Reserve Board as Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland urged Congress not to become a "rubber stamp" for President Eisenhower in approving job-creating public works programs.

Knowland told a news conference that continuing reclamation and other federal public works at normal levels would help "combat unemployment" and reduce any need for "another WPA" such as was created in the depression thirties.

The reserve board said its industrial production index stood at 133 in January, a drop of three points from December and its lowest point since February, 1955. The index was 8 per cent below last summer and 9 per cent under January, 1957.

The board blamed most of the drop on sharp cutbacks in hard goods industries in January, including automobiles, manufacturing equipment and other consumer durable goods.

Steel Operations Reduced

It said steel mill operations, which showed a severe drop in December, were decreased further in January and early February. Steel ingot production was listed at about 90 per cent of the 1947-49 average and somewhat below the mid-1954 low.

Apparently reflecting the step-up in the defense program, the board said "activity in the aircraft industry showed no further reduction in December and January."

But non-durable goods continued to slide and the textile and oil industries both reported cutbacks.

The industrial production index, which is pegged to a 1947-49 base, hit a high of 147 in December, 1946. It was at 145 last August when the current business recession set in.

Administration sources disclosed that Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks was studying possible ways of preventing a threatened cutback in the multi-billion dollar federal superhighway program.

It also was revealed that the Budget Bureau had lifted a 630

FOR ARAB WORLD

Merger Hailed As Unity Step

AMMAN, Jordan, Feb. 14 (AP)—Kings Faisal of Iraq and Hussein of Jordan linked their governments today in a federal union. Their spokesman hailed this swift response to the recently proclaimed Egyptian-Syrian union as a step toward total Arab unity, but the immediate effect was to spotlight the rivalry between two Arab camps.

The merger — the spokesmen called it an "Arab federation" — left the future of Iraq's participation in the American-supported Baghdad Pact in doubt. It is the only Arab nation in the alliance, a target of violent attack by Arab nationalists ever since it was formed in 1955.

A hint of challenge to the Egyptian-Syrian United Arab Republic proclaimed two weeks ago was implicit in the statements of Iraqi and Jordanian leaders who shaped the new merger. They called the federation superior to the Egyptian-Syrian union and claimed their method was the more normal way for two sovereign states to unite.

Joins Hashemite

The Baghdad-Amman federation joins the two Hashemite kingdoms' armies, foreign policies, and economic and financial affairs, but each of the 22-year-old second cousins retains his throne and each state retains its separate government and its sovereignty. In this the federation differed from the Egyptian-Syrian union, in which President Nasser of

Monroyan Takes Ride At Gunpoint To Lake Charles

LAKE CHARLES (Special) — City Police were on the lookout for a hitchhiker who, a Monroe man told authorities, had forced him at gunpoint to drive here from Monroe late yesterday.

Police said Pittman L. Shields, who gave his address as 313 Pecan Dr., Monroe, told them an unidentified white hitchhiker abducted him in Monroe about 11:10 a.m. yesterday. Shields told police he had offered the gunman a ride when he saw him standing in the rain near Shields' home.

According to officials, Shields said the man ordered him to write a check in Monroe to buy food before forcing him to drive to Lake Charles. On arriving here, Shields was allegedly told to buy some food at a cafe and said he returned to his car to find the man gone.

Shields described the suspect as 30 to 35 years old, 5 feet, 9 inches,

Farrell Begins To Feel Real Fatigue

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — Muscle and mind-sapping fatigue that could be fatal to a man on a real trip to the moon plagued experimental "spaceman" Donald G. Farrell Friday in his earth-bound but airtight space cabin at the School of Aviation Medicine.

Scientists noted the onset of "real fatigue" during the night, when Farrell, 23, of New York City's Bronx, was rounding out his fifth day in the cabin. He skipped two problems in radar tracking. His reaction time on other problems lagged.

But Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of the school's department of space medicine, said Farrell shows "no indication he wants to get out."

Steinkamp said he expects Farrell to stay in the three-by-five foot cabin until 9:35 a.m. Sunday, when he will have completed a week.

Far Surpasses Record

The longest a human in the United States had lived in an artificial environment, cut off from the outside, was 24 hours, before Farrell began his experiment.

If Farrell were on a real space trip, at this point he would be on his way back to earth. He would soon need all of his resources to get his rocket back into the earth's atmosphere without its burning, and make a landing.

"His answers to problems aren't quite as exact as they were," Steinkamp said.

Through a system of buttons and lights, scientists give Farrell, who

France Gives New Warning To Tunisians

TUNIS, Tunisia (UP) — Blockaded French military garrisons began running out of food Friday. The Tunisian government kept its pressure on them by rejecting a French protest which warned of "grave consequences" if the siege continued.

At the Tunis suburb of Kassar Said, where 200 French soldiers are stationed, men were seen slaughtering one of their horses Friday morning. But French helicopters managed to drop supplies to isolated bases in the southern part of the country.

The blockade situation remained explosive, although Tunisian officials did not protest the use of helicopters to supply some bases.

In a few cases, Tunisian authorities closed their eyes and permitted local businessmen to furnish food to isolated camps.

(In Algiers, the French reported an Algerian rebel attack from across the Tunisian border 90 miles south of Duvivier. The rebels withdrew into Tunisia, the French said.)

In Paris the government warned it would protect its 15,000 troops in Tunisia "in all circumstances."

The Tunisian people appeared to be heeding the appeal of President Habib Bourguiba for calm. No incidents were reported during a four-hour, anti - French general strike that was almost 100 per cent effective.

Streets were deserted and shops were shuttered from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Then Tunis returned to normal.

Police Guard Roadblocks

Police guarded all embassies, particularly the French embassy, but no attacks were made on foreign properties.

Some 4,000 Tunisian civilian employees at French military establishments walked out.

Roads to French troop encampments remained blocked by carts, tractors, threshing machines and stone barricades.

Police and guardsmen stood watch at the roadblocks.

Some of the smaller French garrisons were reported organizing night raiding parties to dig

Texas Wine Lovers Enjoy Train Crash

PADUCAH, Tex. (UP) — Ten cars of a freight train carrying wine, fruits and vegetables were derailed two miles west of Paducah Friday, and wine lovers quickly took advantage of the situation.

They collected empty bottles, rushed to the derailed cars and caught the wine as it dripped from the broken bottles until a railroad guard was posted at the scene.

There were no injuries in the derailment of the Quanah, Acme and Pacific railroad train.

Railroad officials said the derailment was started by a "hot box." A journal burned out, causing the wheels to drop off the 10th car behind the engine. The other cars piled up behind it.

The derailment ripped up 500 feet of track and damaged the track for a considerable distance behind that. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The U. S. Weather Bureau took a long look into the future and could see nothing but more cold east of the Continental Divide. The Bureau's 30-day outlook, extending into mid-March, predicted below normal temperatures through two thirds of the nation, with the worst cold in the north-east.

Florida, shivering through its coldest, wettest winter in history, weathered its fourth major cold snap. The freeze sent the mercury to 18 above at Gainesville. But there was little citrus left to kill, the vegetable crop was already practically winnowed out, and sun-seeking tourists were embittered.

Forecasters said a new cold wave would sweep from Texas to Florida. To the North, an Arctic front moved across the northern border and snows swept through the Midwest into the Ohio Valley. North Dakota expected 20 below temperatures and New England weather also remained bitter cold.

In Kentucky Gov. A. B. Chandler and the state Public Service Commission ordered the output of nine gas wells in Knox County diverted to the shivering city of Middletown.

An emergency supply of propane gas ran out at Middletown two days ago, leaving the homes of 12,000 of the town's 15,000 residents without heat. Many of them took to sharing homes or moving into hospitals in order to stay warm.

At Portsmouth, N. H., Donald Cornelier escaped from a county jail work detail and wandered about in near-zero temperatures.

SPY TRIAL

Drunken Orgies Bared By Soldier

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A story of drunken orgies in Moscow, at which he said he was plied with vodka, women and rubles, was recounted today at the espionage court-martial trial of M. Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes.

Rhodes, who is 40 and married, told the story in a series of three statements which FBI agents testified he made under questioning last July. The statements were read after counsel for Rhodes sought vainly to have them barred. The sergeant sat solemn-faced, with working jaws, while they were read. His wife waited in an anteroom, as she has done since the trial opened Tuesday.

The statements, described by the prosecution as a confession, dealt mainly with the period when Rhodes was chief mechanic at the U.S. Embassy garage in Moscow from 1951 to 1953.

Rhodes is pictured as falling in with a group of Russians after a "big party" at which he was paired off with a Russian girl. "The next thing I recall," the statement quotes him as saying, "was waking up in bed with her in her apartment the next morning."

This was followed by other meetings during which Rhodes said he was informed by Russians that the girl was pregnant and his passport would be held up so he couldn't return to this country. The upshot was, the statement said, that Rhodes was told, "You are working for us."

Rhodes was quoted as saying he gave specific answers to specific questions about what went on at the embassy, received the

Originally, 24 parades and an endless stream of private costume balls and parties were scheduled to take place before Mardi Gras, next Tuesday, when an all-day holiday of street celebration will take place.

The carnival began the 12th night after Christmas, officially, and ends at midnight Mardi Gras.

Although he missed two problems in radar tracking, he worked other problems. He was slower than usual getting to work on the problems after orders were flashed to him, however.

Four Hours Sleep
Steinkamp, in an effort to help Farrell overcome the fatigue, let him sleep four hours without interruption Thursday night. After the four hours, he found Farrell very hard to awaken.

"The test has pointed out significant factors in the day-night cycle and the performance of an average individual under these conditions," Steinkamp said.

Farrell has been operating on a 14-hour day, instead of the earth's 24-hour solar day. Scientists have accomplished this by cutting work, sleep and recreational periods in his living cycle.

Farrell, who usually eats around 2,500 calories a day, is eating an average of 3,400 in the cabin. Steinkamp said he gets the extra calories in snacks, which he eats to combat boredom.

He has only one big meal a day, at dinner, and Steinkamp said it is "packaged and labelled as such."

The air pressure in the cabin is what it is at 18,000 feet. All the oxygen, food and water that Farrell needed for a week is stored in the cabin.

He can't see out of the cabin, has no direct contact with the outside world, and unless he has managed to keep track of the day and time, does not know whether it is night or day.

million dollar ceiling on Army engineers public works projects. However, the bureau also ordered the engineers to exert every effort to hold spending under the program "to the practicable minimum."

Knowland who said a "sizeable" public works program was one way of combatting unemployment, noted that the President had proposed a sharp reduction in such programs next year to free money for the accelerating defense program.

He also said he was confident that the administration would recognize the "advisability" of keeping federal public works programs at a higher level than that recommended by the budget.

But if it doesn't, Knowland said, Congress should "exercise its independent judgment" and reinstate parts of the program. He said Congress "historically... has often deviated" from administration recommendations and that it should not become a "rubber stamp" now.

WEST MONROE

Miss Ruth Jean Fowler, 26, of Rhode Island was fined $305.50 or 90 days on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, when West Monroe City Court met yesterday.

She was also charged with driving without a driver's license, with that part of the case to be continued.

Zollie C. Rabun, 35, of Farmerville, paid a fine of $305.50, also on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages.

In addition, one man forfeited a bond of $25 on a charge of disturbing the peace.

MONROE

The following cases were heard in Monroe City Court yesterday, Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

Charles M. Spears, 21, of Choudrant was fined $105 on a charge of theft by issuing worthless checks, records showed. A charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants resulted in a $40 fine to a man records identified as Ivey Dickey, 40, of 108 Clark St. in West Monroe.

In other activity, five persons paid fines and cash bond forfeitures totaling $150 on charges of reckless driving, speeding, or drunkenness. Two persons were compulsory 30-day jail sentences for habitual drunkenness, and five persons received sentences of $50 or 50 days or less on counts of reckless driving, speeding, or simple battery.

"An accidental detonation of conventional explosives might possibly cause local scattering of nuclear materials in the form of dust," the statement said. "This would not be a fallout of fissioned materials, but unfissioned nuclear material could be spread locally, by wind or explosion."

This dust could be hazardous only if taken internally, as by breathing, the statement said. Safety measures include limiting the amounts of nuclear material which may be transported in a single shipment, and military commands are AEC installations have specially trained and equipped teams to decontaminate the area of an accident.

Beauty Queens Join Rayburn, Solons At Lunch

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—After a morning of sightseeing, 24 beauty queens from Louisiana had lunch in the Capitol today with Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and Louisiana senators and representatives.

The two dozen young women—each a Louisiana festival queen—were here to participate in tonight's annual Mardi Gras ball of the Louisiana State Society.

Guests also included Miss Barbara Denechaud, 18, of New Orleans and Solon Turman, New Orleans, who is president of the Lykes Brothers Steamship Co., Inc., one of the country's largest steamship concerns. Miss Denechaud is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Denechaud Jr.

Rayburn, who is to be the queen's escort tonight, complimented Louisiana on its contingent of beauty and told the girls a brief bit of history of the Old Supreme Court Chamber in which the luncheon was held.

The girls are to be part of the court tonight at the annual ball, which this year is dedicated to Louisiana's waterways industries.

Agency Has No Plans To Appeal King Decision

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—A Department of Public Safety spokesman said today the agency has no plans to ask a rehearing after the Supreme Court directed the Civil Service Commission to hear any evidence of politics in the firing of Alvin King.

This will leave the way open for the Civil Service Commission at its Feb. 24 session to set a date for taking new evidence in the King case.

The commission had upheld the firing of the former head of the Drivers License Division by Public Safety Director Forrest C. Pendleton, who had listed several charges including insubordination and talking with a news reporter.

The Supreme Court held the commission erred in disregarding King's efforts to show evidence of political influence in the dismissal.

The commission, in effect, had ruled such evidence didn't matter if reasons given for the firing were proper and supported by evidence.

Atty. Cleburn Dalton of the Public Safety Department said, "We are ready to take this required testimony any time the commission sets a date."

Pineau also warned that supplies would be parachuted to besieged garrisons. "We will defend our troops in all circumstances," he said.

He added that France was determined to keep its base at Bizerte, the largest French naval establishment in North Africa, despite Tunisia's order closing the harbor to French warships.

Merger Hailed As Unity Step

Egypt will rule both countries from Cairo.

In the light of the Egypt-Syria marriage, the new federal union had tremendous meaning for all the Arab East. It left the way open for Iraq to stay in the Baghdad Pact, but was likely to generate pressures militating against that.

It was designed as northern tier protection against aggressive communism in the Middle East.

The agreement—signed at dawn on a Moslem Sabbath—provided that treaties and international agreements which previously have been concluded by the two countries before federation will remain valid for the state which concluded them, but not binding on the other state. This would cover the Baghdad Pact.

The federation, however, links the foreign policies of the two states. Hussein nearly lost his throne in late 1955 in the uproar over a British attempt to push Jordan into the pact. He likely would be uncomfortable about the new implicit link to the pact. His Palestinian subjects, outnumbering 2-1 the original Trans-Jordan Bedouins, riotously oppose the alliance.

For Jordan there were some palpable advantages. For Iraq, the poverty-stricken sister state could prove more a liability than an asset.

The merger of the two armies brings Iraq's 60,000-strong, British-equipped army together with Jordan's 23,000-man Arab Legion. The Arab Legion, created and trained by the British under John Bagot Glubb Pasha—ousted by Hussein after the Baghdad Pact fracas of 1955—is considered the best single fighting force in the Arab East.

This development will strengthen Jordan's defenses along its 400-mile frontier with Israel, and is likely to cause considerable worry inside Israel.

million dollar ceiling on Army engineers public works projects. However, the bureau also ordered the engineers to exert every effort to hold spending under the program "to the practicable minimum."

Knowland who said a "sizeable" public works program was one way of combatting unemployment, noted that the President had proposed a sharp reduction in such programs next year to free money for the accelerating defense program.

He also said he was confident that the administration would recognize the "advisability" of keeping federal public works programs at a higher level than that recommended by the budget.

But if it doesn't, Knowland said, Congress should "exercise its independent judgment" and reinstate parts of the program. He said Congress "historically... has often deviated" from administration recommendations and that it should not become a "rubber stamp" now.

City Courts

WEST MONROE

Miss Ruth Jean Fowler, 26, of Rhode Island was fined $305.50 or 90 days on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, when West Monroe City Court met yesterday.

She was also charged with driving without a driver's license, with that part of the case to be continued.

Zollie C. Rabun, 35, of Farmerville, paid a fine of $305.50, also on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages.

In addition, one man forfeited a bond of $25 on a charge of disturbing the peace.

MONROE

The following cases were heard in Monroe City Court yesterday. Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

Charles M. Spears, 21, of Choudrant was fined $105 on a charge of theft by issuing worthless checks, records showed. A charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants resulted in a $410 fine to a man records identified as Ivey Dickey, 40, of 106 Clark St. in West Monroe.

In other activity, five persons paid fines and cash bond forfeitures totaling $150 on charges of reckless driving, speeding, or drunkenness. Two persons drew compulsory 30-day jail sentences for habitual drunkenness, and five persons received sentences of $50 or 50 days or less on counts of reckless driving, speeding, or simple battery.

SPANISH WAR VETS QUIT

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. —(UP)—Lorenzo B. Dragon sent this letter to the city council: "This is to inform you that Wesley S. Brass Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, has discontinued holding meetings in the city's Memorial Hall due to the physical condition of our comrades. Beauty Queens Join Rayburn, Solons At Lunch

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—After a morning of sightseeing, 24 beauty queens from Louisiana had lunch in the Capitol today with Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and Louisiana senators and representatives.

The two dozen young women—each a Louisiana festival queen—were here to participate in tonight's annual Mardi Gras ball of the Louisiana State Society.

Guests also included Miss Barbara Denechaud, 18, of New Orleans and Solon Turman, New Orleans, president of the Louisiana State Society. Lykes Brothers Steamship Co., Inc., one of the country's largest steamship concerns. Miss Denechaud is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Denechaud Jr.

Rayburn, who is to be the queen's escort tonight, complimented Louisiana on its contingent of beauty and told the girls a brief bit of history of the Old Supreme Court Chamber in which the luncheon was held.

The girls are to be part of the court tonight at the annual ball, which this year is dedicated to Louisiana's waterways industries.

The crowd above is typical of the throngs attending the Remodeling Sale at Howard Brothers Jewelry store the past two days. The entire stock of fine watches, diamonds and other jewelry is included. The store will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight. Howard Bros. store is located at 116 DeSiard.—Adv.

France Gives New Warning To Tunisians

up vegetables from Tunisian fields.

The 30-man French radar team at Cap Bon near the big naval base of Bizerte was said to be particularly short of food.

The larger garrisons, as well as the Bizerte base itself, were believed to have considerable supplies still on hand.

The siege started Saturday as word spread of the 25 - plane French air attack on the border village of Sakiet Sidi Youssef, in which 75 persons were killed and 102 wounded.

Charge Border Violations

Sources said the government rejected the French protest note against the blockade on grounds that it was couched in terms unacceptable to Tunisia. It said the blockade could cause "grave consequences" in Tunisia.

The Tunisian reply was handed to French Charge d'Affaires Jean Benard in a five-minute meeting at the government palace.

France still was resisting Tunisian demands that it close three of its consulates, at Le Kef, Medjez and Gafsa.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said in Paris that France would bring Tunisia before the United Nations Security Council on charges of violating the Algerian frontier.

Pineau also warned that supplies would be parachuted to besieged garrisons. "We will defend our troops in all circumstances," he said.

He added that France was determined to keep its base at Bizerte, the largest French naval establishment in North Africa, despite Tunisia's order closing the harbor to French warships.

"I'm very fond of anyone who really knows how to sit on a horse," Al declared.

Chapter 5

THE STORY THIS FAR: LIZA TRENT, who has just returned to New York from Europe, becomes engaged to BLAKE MONTGOMERY, a wealthy bachelor. Her father disapproves, however, and suggests she vacation at his ranch in Arizona. When she discovers her father is to marry PAT BRADBURY, his young secretary, Liza is furious and decides to ask Blake to marry her now. But Blake advises to vacation at the ranch and marry on her return. She takes a plane to Arizona where she is met by AL NICHOLS, the ranch manager. He explains that though a city boy, after serving in Korea he took an Agricultural degree at college and has made his home in the west since. A week after her arrival Liza's father phones to say he's broken his engagement. The same night Al kisses Liza for the first time — "arousing a passion and response that Liza Trent had never known."

Al Nichols' kiss did not bring with it a declaration of love. When he released her he lit a cigarette and finished his cocktail exactly as if nothing had happened. Between them on the table was the huge bowl of the roses Blake Montgomery had airmailed from New York.

"I'll have Rosa take them out," Liza spoke self-consciously. "No need to," Al said generously. "After all, he is your fiancé."

It suddenly seemed important that he understand her position with Blake — that there really was a question whether or not Liza would marry him. "It isn't exactly an engagement," she began. "What I mean is, I came out here to think it over."

"And while you're thinking you're amusing yourself with the nearest cowboy," Al's dark eyes were cold and serious. "The guy from the wrong side of the tracks who ended up managing your father's ranch. Liza Trent takes a plunge into slumming."

"That's horrible. Al! I didn't say those things. I didn't think them either."

He glanced at the diamond ring on her finger. "Perhaps I'd admire you more, Liza, if you didn't bother with explanations. When you're wearing a five carat diamond you owe something to the man who donated it."

Her cheeks flamed with color. She had given little thought to the ring which she had accepted and worn so carelessly. It meant nothing more to her than another lovely piece of jewelry. She realized now her mistake. Some way she must get through to this man, who so easily roused the emotions which Liza Trent had never known before. But how? The kiss had apparently left him unmoved.

Two weeks followed. The magnificence of the desert winter became more colorful as January faded into February. The brilliant cactus flowers were at their peak. The great arch of the sky was streaked with color at sunrise and sunset and Liza came to love the strange beauty and the silence all about her.

One evening she persuaded Al to ride with her at twilight. The floor of the desert was strewn with weird shadows from the giant cactus and mesquite trees. The sky still alive with the faint color of the dying sunset.

They paused with their horses on a little ridge. "I had no idea the desert was so beautiful," Liza said sincerely. "It will seem strange to go back to living in New York again."

"Then you are going back?" It was a loaded question and she knew it.

Liza laughed softly. "Why shouldn't I?"

Al swung from the saddle. "Come on, let's walk for a while. There's going to be a full moon."

Liza followed him in silence. They had a curious, unexpressed intimacy, heightened by this lonely privacy they shared in the great out-of-doors.

"I was wrong about you," Al said abruptly.

"You mean I'm not quite such a spoiled brat as you thought?" He grinned. "At least you can ride a horse, and I'm very fond of anyone who really knows how to sit on a horse," Al declared. "Look, Liza, the moon..."

The western sky had not faded but the moon was jerking itself up on the horizon, round and pale, bringing light to the sky and the desert.

"Why are you afraid of me, Al?" Liza said abruptly.

His answer was simple and truthful. "You're Mitchell Trent's daughter. Isn't that enough?"

"It hasn't scared any one off before."

"You've never known a man like me, Baby."

No one but her father ever called her that, but it did not annoy her. "Mitch says I've never met any real men. Period. He doesn't approve of Blake..."

"He probably wouldn't approve of me either, Liza, don't you understand? I haven't a cent to my name except what your father pays me."

"Mitch is not a snob," Liza declared, the moonlight playing over the fair hair. "He used to work in the oil fields in Texas. He never got beyond the eighth grade."

He seemed surprised but not impressed. "That's your Dad, baby. Not you. You're intrigued with anything that's different. The desert. The Flying A. Me. Maybe it will last. Maybe it won't. You're still engaged to Blake and you're only 22."

"And you," Liza chided. "An old man of 28."

He smiles a little. "I've been around. The war adds a few years to any man."

She wanted terribly for him to take her in his arms, but he did not. Instead he said unemotionally, "It's getting late, Doll. Let's go back to the horses."

She was disappointed and yet more intrigued than ever. (To be continued.)

Higher Education Boards Agree La. System 'Good'

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The two boards responsible for higher education agreed yesterday there is nothing wrong with the present system of administration and placed blame for their battle over graduate programs upon the Legislature.

Then, the State Board of Education and the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors approved two steps designed to tighten coordination:

1. Set two annual joint meetings, one in April, just before the May Legislature, the other in October.

2. Agreed LSU President Troy Middleton should take part in sessions of the Presidents' Council, made up of the heads of the nine state colleges.

A hint of a movement to alter the present constitutional set up of the LSU Board of Supervisors with regard to number of members and length of terms also leaked out at the unusual joint session.

LSU board member Lewis Gottlieb offered a motion that both boards endorse administration of LSU under its own board "as presently constituted."

Lt. Gov. Lether Frazar, representing the governor, asked, "When you say 'as presently constituted' do you mean with the same members, the same terms and everything?"

Gottlieb said he had. His proposal later was scrapped for a simple endorsement of the present set up where LSU is supervised by its board and the education board has authority over elementary and secondary education and the nine state colleges.

The 14-year terms of the LSU board have been criticized frequently as too long.

Chairman George Baillio of the LSU board set this keynote for the meeting:

"We're here to try to present a united front on a question that is going to be submitted to the Legislature. There are members of the committee present. They may already have reached some conclusions."

Seated nearby were Sens. Sylvan Friedman and Estes Cole, representing the legislative committee drafting a proposal for a single board of higher education. They said they were present only as observers to report back to the committee.

In the face of Russian scientific advances, the education board moved last fall to extend graduate training to three state colleges. LSU opposed the move.

President Nash Roberts of the education board explained, "before last December, the education board had never authorized a graduate program. The Legislature had twice directed us to set up a program at Northwestern Louisiana Institute."

"The board had been on record as opposed to graduate programs at state colleges," he continued. "If we hadn't taken the recent action, it is very likely it would have been done at the May Legislature."

Roberts cited expanding of McNeese State College, Lake Thibodaux, and Northeast State College, Monroe, from Junior colleges into four-year institutions "without a request from the State Board of Education or asking us whether we wanted them or could handle them. The same thing often is true about trade schools."

The three junior colleges formerly were administered by the LSU Board of Supervisors, but now are under the education board.

Lt. Gov. Frazar asked, "have our boards appeared before the education committees of the House and Senate to oppose these questions?"

LSU board member Theo Cangelosi of Baton Rouge replied, "I don't recall that the LSU board has ever been invited to appear before committees and express itself."

"If both boards put themselves in the position of going up there and voluntarily opposing the bills, they run the risk of incurring the opposition of the sponsors and endangering their approval."

However, education board member George T. Madison disagreed.

"I have appeared as a member of our finance committee frequently," he said. "They often disregard our recommendations but they do listen to us."

"The Legislature has a full schedule and assumes all interested persons will appear," the Bastrop attorney said. "They can't be bothered with inviting a lot of people. Maybe we're at fault."

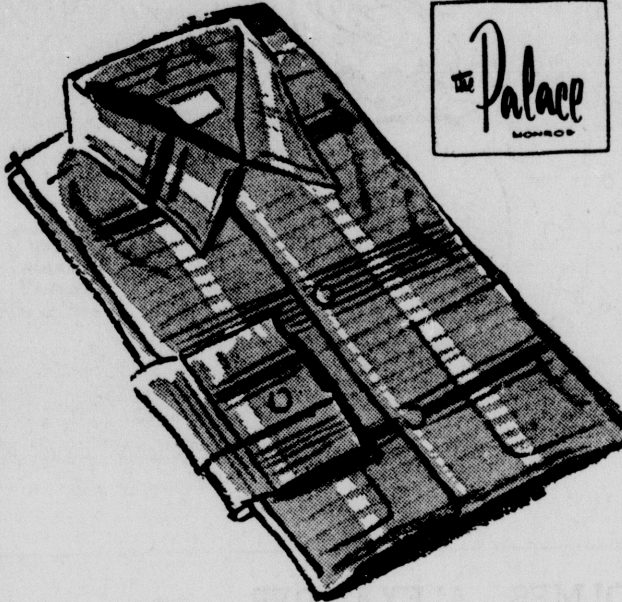

Sen. J. D. De Blieux of Baton Rouge, present as an observer, gained quick approval of a suggestion a bill or resolution should be enacted requiring a recommendation from the board affected before the Legislature took any action.

There were three dissenting votes to the resolution endorsing the present two board system.

Education board member Isom J. Guillory of Eunice said he agreed the LSU board should remain as it is "but I do not want to bind the legislative committee in any further action they might want to take in dividing the education board."

LSU board members Thomas Leigh of Monroe and Mrs. Ella V. Schwing of Plaquemine agreed with Guillory.

Snow Forecast Sends Solons To Miss. Homes

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 14 (AP) — Snow forecasts for north Mississippi chased the House of Representatives home after a 30-minute session this morning.

House Speaker Walter Sillers of Bolivar County told the House predictions of up to four inches of snow were seen for the northern part of the state tonight and tomorrow and urged lawmakers not to leave Jackson too late.

They voted to adjourn immediately after passing 18 local and private bills on one vote.

Both houses return at 2 p.m. Monday. The Senate had adjourned yesterday.

Sillers feared effects of snow and ice at the beginning of the week when two inches of snow, sleet and freezing rain pelted much of the state.

He urged lawmakers not to risk their lives on hazardous, ice-slick highways to drive to Jackson for the scheduled Monday afternoon session.

When James R. Hoffa was granted court permission to assume the presidency of the International Teamsters Union, under the supervision of a panel of monitors, he figured he "had it made." Hoffa openly stated that the monitors didn't mean anything. He intimidated the judge was using their appointment more as a means of avoiding public criticism than anything else. He said these monitors would not disturb his program.

The Teamsters Union summoned its monitors for a "social call" or "get-acquainted" session. Since the monitors are to be paid by the Teamsters Union, Hoffa apparently expected the monitors would be mere puppets who would jump at his beck and call.

Now Godfrey P. Schmidt, harshest Teamster critic among the court-appointed monitors, has thrown a monkey wrench into the works. Before the session got under way he announced that he had not traveled all the way from New York to Florida for a "social call" or "get-acquainted" session. At the same time he charged two witnesses he had called for the New York Teamsters rank and file plaintiffs in a suit against Teamster President Hoffa had been subjected to reprisals.

Pointing out that the court settlement had specifically prohibited any such reprisals, Schmidt said, "Some drastic action is necessary to make sure they don't continue."

Every action by Hoffa since the court's compromise ruling indicates that the court action was a mistake. Hoffa should not have been permitted to assume the presidency until the entire matter of whether or not his election was "rigged" had been thrashed out. In effect, the court allowed Hoffa to take office while he was still under a cloud and while the legality of his election was in question. It would thus seem that he was prematurely given the "nine points in law" right which possession carries, in this case the possession of the office of president.

Schmidt's fellow monitors are L. N. D. Wells Jr., of Dallas, named by the Hoffa faction of the Teamsters, and Judge Nathan Cayton of Washington, the chairman and neutral monitor.

Wells can be expected to follow the Hoffa line. Principal opposition to Hoffa will come from Schmidt. It is to be hoped that Judge Cayton will act with Schmidt in order to prevent Hoffa from carrying out his boast that the monitors mean nothing.

Otherwise, Hoffa will feel free to proceed with his alignment with known gangsters in his attempt to control all traffic throughout the world, including that by sea and air, as well as by land.

Court Race Rulings

Three legal blows to state and city officials trying to maintain racial segregation in Louisiana schools, colleges and parks were dealt in decisions rendered by the U.S. circuit court of appeals in New Orleans. The decisions, however, came as no surprise, as they were virtually mandatory under previous rulings made by the United States supreme court.

Circuit courts have little choice in cases in which the supreme court has made decisions for the reason that the high court rulings set precedents which the lower courts are bound to follow unless they want their rulings reversed. Not many judges digress from the course set by the higher courts, even though the decisions they render may be contrary to their own beliefs on law and justice.

The supreme court's infamous "black Monday" decision of 1954, in which it held that "separate but equal rights" for Negroes were not enough, set a pattern which the lower courts are bound to follow.

State and city officials have been well aware of this fact for years and have not expected any relief from the courts. In the face of this situation, they have gone ahead with plans for maintaining segregated schools. The latest rulings of the circuit court will not change the situation appreciably.

Ruling Of High Court Is Boon For Criminals

Congress is coming under increasing pressure by the citizenry of Washington, D.C., to nullify a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling which has set off a reign of criminal terror in the Nation's capital. Civic groups, the District Bar Association and the District Board of Commissioners, the city's appointed governing body, have all asked for Congressional action on the so-called Mallory decision. The high court decision, in effect, bars the arrest of a suspect by police if the purpose of the arrest is to elicit a confession or admission of a crime. It also rules out questioning by the police because under the decision a suspect must be brought immediately before a committing magistrate.

Mallory, a 24 year old Negro handyman, was convicted and sentenced to die for the rape of an elderly white woman in a Washington apartment building where he had odd jobs. The court last June barred Mallory's confession as evidence because he was held too long — 7 1/2 hours — between the time of his arrest and arraignment. The U.S. Attorney's office dropped its case against Mallory when the victim indicated she could not go through the ordeal of another trial. Mallory was set free but a short time later was arrested again for assault. Since the Mallory decision District court judges have dismissed case after case of assault, robbery, and rape because under the decision the police must have "reasonable cause" for arrest. Confessions made within even a half hour after the arrest have been ruled out because the Mallory decision has been interpreted to mean the police cannot ask certain questions of a person arrested and charged with a crime. The court's so-called "reasonable cause" for arrest provision means a suspect in the act of a crime or have his name spelled out on a warrant signed by a complainant.

This provision has seriously handicapped Washington police in curbing the rise in street crimes such as robbery, assault and rape as the victims seldom, if ever, can name or even identify their attackers. While the Mallory decision theoretically affects all federal law enforcement its greatest impact at the present is being felt in the District of Columbia where ordinary felons are tried by U.S. District court judges. Almost all criminal suspects arrested by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Secret Service, Bu-

Busy Men May Overlook Matters Of Importance

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Busy men often overlook matters of importance, so I have no apology in addressing certain men on certain matters, such as: Senator Lister Hill, chairman, Labor - Public Welfare Committee, Capitol Hill.

Dear Senator: As chairman of the committee handling President Eisenhower's education bills, you should look to another Eisenhower for some real thinking on the subject.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore recently made a speech which contained a whole program for revamping American education. This is it:

1. Aim for quality, not quantity. 2. Unload the school curriculums of all "peripheral" (junk) courses. 3. Discourage college - for - everybody by adding a 13th high-school year for students who want vocational training.

4. To take the boredom out of education "increase the academic load of all students. . . it happens that most students do better work with a heavy load than with a light one. 5. Sectionalize all classes so that the bright boys are segregated from the bunched, and quality forces ahead. 6. Go back to educational fundamentals. "There is no substitute . . . for mathematics, English, a foreign language, science, history and social studies."

It should not escape your notice as a Democratic stalwart, Senator Hill, that Dr. Eisenhower's educational program is very much unlike a political platform. Instead of blubbering about the under-privilege of American students, Milton Eisenhower comes close to saying that we have too much of everything. Our problem, says Dr. Eisenhower, "is not a quantitative one, as many people seem to think. We have, as I have said, 41 million students in formal educational programs now: three million of these are in our colleges and universities. No other nation on earth even approaches quantities such as these."

Men who talk this way are not preaching self-pity to the masses, are not offering new baubles in exchange for votes, and are not going anywhere in politics. It might be a good idea, Senator Hill, to get Dr. Eisenhower's speech and paste it on your committee-room wall.

Walter Reuther, Esq., United Auto Worker's Headquarters, Detroit.

Dear Mr. Reuther: On January 23, Senator William Knowland (R., Cal.) introduced a comprehensive bill (S-3068) to amend the Taft-Hartley Labor Act. I am sure it has come to your attention, but the purpose of the bill is to bring the attention of the 17 million union members many of whom are affiliated in the AFL-CIO, of which you are vice president?

I have a reason for raising this question. On February 1, the weekly tabloid "AFL-CIO News" made its appearance with a front-page, two-column head concerning a sheaf of GOP Labor legislation. There followed a detailed news story which analyzed 13 Labor Relations bills. There were five by Senator Mundt (S.D.), four by Senator Ives (N.Y.), three by Senator Smith (N.J.), who is the White House agent in this respect, and one by Senator Goldwater (Ariz.). There was no mention that I could discover of the Knowland bill although it went into the Senate hopper on the same day as the Smith-White House Bill.

One of my spies on Labor affairs gives me this reason why the AFL-CIO leaders should blank out news of the Knowland bill. He said: "They don't want the rank and file to find out what a good bill it is for the rank and file."

It is this angle, Mr. Reuther, which may have escaped your attention. On the grounds that you know many more union members than I do, I provide the summary which your newspaper left out. I hope you and other readers will pass it along to the rank and file.

The Knowland bill, in brief, makes no attempt to set up collective bargaining machinery. The Senator's bill is confined to one purpose: establishment of self-reliance within the unions. There are some provisions which management won't like, other provisions which individual workers won't like. But this democratizing bill in its entirety will be loathed by union bosses, if any there be, who are either dictatorial or dishonest. The veritables of the Knowland bill are these provisions:

Recall of any offending union officer. The recall machinery is to be set in motion by a petition of 15 per cent of the union members.

Initiative of union legislation. A referendum upon petition of 15 per cent of the union members is to be made by secret ballot on such questions as: amending union constitution and rules, vetoing decisions of union officials on matters such as dues, assessments, fines suspension and expulsion.

Restriction of trusteeship over local unions and prohibition of geographical monopoly by two or more unions. This protects the right of a member to join any union he chooses.

Prohibition of waiver of right-to-strike and of excessively long term contracts — except when approved by secret ballot.

Restriction of disguised bribes. Management may not give money or valuable presents to union leaders, and union leaders may not accept the same.

Senator Knowland, I think, best described his own bill with these introductory remarks. They should be of interest, Mr. Reuther, to you.

. . . I . . . have discussed these problems personally with many members of various unions. If I can summarize their comments in a phrase, they requested that Congress give them assistance in obtaining democratic control by the rank and file of membership over the management and operation of local, regional and national unions. Mr. President, the bill I have just introduced is for that purpose."

Quinine for Cramps R. P. writes: The doctor wants my mother to take quinine for leg cramps she suffers at night. But my cousin, who was in service during World War II, says the army doctors refused to give quinine for this condition. Do you know why?

Reply Quinine was hard to get during the war. In addition, cramping of the calf in men of military age differs from the condition in older persons.

Coloring From Beets T. G. writes: After eating beets I urinated three times before going to bed and each time the fluid was red. The next morning it was natural. Do you think beets were responsible or should I have a urinalysis?

Reply There is a good possibility that beets were responsible but a urinalysis is the only way to find out whether you are excreting red dyes.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Eleanor Trying To Judge Dulles

WHOSE ANTENNAE? Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has been publishing an interesting series of articles about herself in The Saturday Evening Post. They are, in many ways, a postscript to her autobiography.

The particular article to which I refer contains some criticism of John Foster Dulles, our secretary of state, which requires examination. The matter comes up in relationship to Nehru of India, for whom Mrs. Roosevelt has considerable admiration. She says: "I cannot help but feel that Mr. Dulles fails to understand the feelings of many of the peoples with whom we must deal—that he lacks antennae and sense the attitudes of others at times when such attitudes may be of utmost importance in our struggle against communism."

The question, of course, is whether the secretary of state is a good-will ambassador or a finely schooled strategist in international relations prepared by knowledge and experience to negotiate with other countries in the interests of the United States. That phrase, "in the interests of the United States," may not concern Mrs. Roosevelt too much because she is devoting the latter years of her life to the interests of the United Nations and there could be a conflict of interest.

It might be argued that a good negotiator is one who understands those with whom he negotiates, but it cannot be argued that he is any good if he is always conceding to the other side, always sacrificing the interests of his own nation. In the long history of sacrificing the United States from 1933 to 1948, the record is so one-sided that surely some country in this world ought to be grateful to the United States. After World War I, at any rate, Finland was grateful and paid its debts. After World War II, such countries as India have shown no gratitude whatsoever for this country. Their attitude might be summed up in the phrase, "What have you done for me lately?"

The reason Mrs. Roosevelt desires Secretary of State Dulles to have antennae which reach out and sense the attitudes of others, is that the aforesaid others "may be of utmost importance in our struggle against communism." But these others, even after receiving such gracious aid at the hands of the government of the United States, in most instances have been neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. Nehru, for instance, is neutral.

What particular value is it to have a secretary of state who gives up the taxpayers' earnings until it hurts and all we get for it is the kind of neutralism which Nehru produced in India and Sukarno produced in Indonesia?

Another generalization in this article that requires correction is the following: "I remember when President Truman sent Gen. George C. Marshall to China during the critical days of the civil war, to attempt to persuade Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to inaugurate governmental reforms in an effort to unite all factions. . . ."

That was not General Marshall's task. General Marshall's task was to intervene in the civil war which was occurring in China between the government, which was our ally, and the Chinese Communists who were serving Soviet Russia. General Marshall's activities were such that the Chinese Communists were able to gain, after a long truce, a strategic position in Manchuria which resulted first in the conquest of China by Soviet Russia, one of the most serious defeats this country encountered in its history, and secondly, the Soviet direction of the Korean War which has proved so disastrous to us.

Mrs. Roosevelt is critical of Madame Chiang Kai-shek. She says: "I think that intellectually she understands what democracy means, but despite the fact that she went to college in this country she does not know how to live democracy."

Madame Chiang, Mei-ling Soong, came to the United States when she was a young child, lived with Bishop Ainsworth in Macao, Georgia, and then studied at Wellesley College. I have known Madame Chiang as a girl and married woman nearly 40 years. She was a close friend of my first wife and there were times, when we were younger, when we saw each other daily. Madame Chiang may not confuse disorderly living with democracy, but she is as trained in the American concept of life as any girl can be who spends most of her childhood and youth in this country.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Tension Eased By Wider Viewpoint

Oral Roberts is a great modern revivalist who knows the psychological value of having folks use their hands in making a point of contact with the Almighty. See how the same principle helps men like Charley relax at night and drift off into deep slumber without tranquilizer pills or sleeping potions. Use Charley's method to combat your insomnia.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case X-330: Charley X., aged 48, is an executive with the Alcoa organization.

"Dr. Crane, I stay tense even at night," he confessed ruefully. "During the day I am under a lot of pressure, as are many modern executives. But I can't even let go at night."

"I feel much like a fellow holding a high tension wire who can't let go even though the current is killing him."

"And if I don't learn to let go, I don't think I'll last till 55, let alone 63."

"Some of my friends are using liquor to relax while others are taking tranquilizer pills. Should I follow their example?"

Face The Facts No, it is silly to use liquor or sedatives to free you from such workaday tension.

Those are inefficient methods and ultimately dangerous in their own right, for they just impose a greater load on liver and kidneys as they do upon your mind. Instead, raise your sights and get a broader philosophical view of the world.

"Suppose I should die within 3 days," you can think to yourself. "Would I be wrought up over this unfinished item on today's work agenda?"

You'll be pleasantly surprised at how quickly this wider viewpoint will pay dividends.

You'll then be able to ignore petty irritations at home which otherwise would set you into a tantrum.

Join God's Team And join God's team! Be sure your job helps make the world at least a little better or safer or happier.

If it doesn't then get out of that line of work and pick a job that does give solace to your morale. Lincoln said he hoped to plant some white thistles grow before he died. If you plant thistles in life, all their pliant and segatives in the world will never ally your conscience and stop your insomnia.

So get on God's team NOW. Which means you must be in a line of work where you plant roses!

Maybe you think your work plants very tiny roses, but even a dwarfed rose beats the largest thistle ever grown!

At night you can also relax your mind by taking six very deep breaths and then holding the last one for 30 seconds.

This process makes you dizzy and inclined to let go of your hectic workaday problems.

Then actually lift your hand aloft as if you are placing it in God's own hand and whisper to yourself:

"Lord, I'm working on your team. I'm trying to plant roses instead of thistles."

"But I must get up early tomorrow to be back on the job, so will you please take over the night shift for me?"

And God never refuses to take over your night shift! Try this bedtime ritual and see for your full satisfaction.

God is far superior to alcohol and tranquilizer pills, as well as sleeping potions. So quit wasting money on attempts to hide from facing the simple facts.

Furthermore, insomnia doesn't kill anybody, so why make such a bugaboo of it?

You gain the chief benefits of slumber just by lying flat, even if your eyes are open.

Meanwhile, read an educational book or the New Testament and you'll soon doze.

But don't forget to raise your hand and ask God to handle your night shift!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs which you send for one of his booklets.)

The particular article to which I refer contains some criticism of John Foster Dulles, our secretary of state, which requires examination. The matter comes up in relationship to Nehru of India, for whom Mrs. Roosevelt has considerable admiration. She says:

"... I cannot help but feel that Mr. Dulles fails to understand the feelings of many of the peoples with whom we must deal—that he lacks antennae with which to reach out and sense the attitudes of others at times when such attitudes may be of utmost importance in our struggle against communism."

The question, of course, is whether the secretary of state is a good-willed ambassador or a finely schooled strategist in international relations prepared by knowledge and experience to negotiate with other countries in the interests of the United States.

That phrase, "in the interests of the United States," may not concern Mrs. Roosevelt too much because she is devoting the latter years of her life to the interests of the United Nations and there could be a conflict of interest.

It might be argued that a good negotiator is one who understands those with whom he negotiates, but it could be argued that he is any good if he is always conceding to the other side, always sacrificing the interests of his own nation. In the long history of sacrificing the United States from 1933 to 1948, the record is so one-sided that surely some country in this world ought to be grateful to the United States. After World War I, at any rate, Finland was grateful and paid its debts. After World War II, such countries as India have shown no gratitude whatsoever for this country. Their attitude might be summed up in the phrase, "What have you done for me lately?"

The reason Mrs. Roosevelt desires Secretary of State Dulles to have antennae which reach out and sense the attitudes of others, is that the aforesaid others "may be of utmost importance in our struggle against communism."

But these others, even after receiving such gracious aid at the hands of the government of the United States, in most instances have been neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. Nehru, for instance, is neutral.

What particular value is it to have a secretary of state who gives up the taxpayers' earnings until it hurts and all we get for it is the kind of neutralism which Nehru produced in India and Sukarno produced in Indonesia?

Another generalization in this article that requires correction is the following: "I remember when President Truman sent Gen. George C. Marshall to China during the critical days of the civil war, to attempt to persuade Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to inaugurate governmental reforms in an effort to unite all factions."

That was not General Marshall's task. General Marshall's task was to intervene in the civil war which was occurring in China between the government which was our ally and the Chinese Communists who were serving Soviet Russia. General Marshall's activities were such that the Chinese Communists were able to gain, after a long truce, a strategic position in Manchuria which resulted first in the conquest of China by Soviet Russia, one of the most serious defeats this country encountered in its history, and secondly, the Soviet direction of the Korean War which has proved so disastrous to us.

Mrs. Roosevelt is critical of Madame Chiang Kai-shek. She says: "... I think that intellectually she understands what democracy means, but despite the fact that she went to college in this country she does not know how to live democracy."

Madame Chiang, Mei-ling Soong, came to the United States when she was a young child, lived with Bishop Ainsworth in Macon, Georgia, and then studied at Wellesley College. I have known Madame Chiang as girl and married woman nearly 40 years. She was a close friend of my first wife and there were times, when we were younger, when we saw each other daily. Madame Chiang may not confuse disorderly living with democracy, but she is as trained in the American concept of life as any girl can be who spends most of her childhood and youth in this country.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Tension Eased By Wider Viewpoint

Oral Roberts is a great modern revivalist who knows the psychological value of having folks use their hands in making a point of contact with the Almighty. See how the same principle helps men like Charley relax at night and drift off into deep slumber without tranquilizer pills or sleeping potions. Use Charley's method to combat your insomnia.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case X-330: Charley X., aged 48, is an executive with the Alcoa organization.

"Dr. Crane, I stay tense even at night," he confessed ruefully. "During the day I am under a lot of pressure as are many modern executives. But I can't even let go at night."

"I feel much like a fellow holding to a high tension wire who can't let go even though the current is killing him."

"And if I don't learn to let go, I don't think I'll last till 55, let alone 65."

"Some of my friends are using liquor to relax while others are taking tranquilizer pills. Should I follow their example?"

Face The Facts No, it is silly to use liquor or sedatives to free you from such workaday tension.

Those are inefficient methods and ultimately dangerous in their own right, for they just impose a greater load on liver and kidneys as they dope up your mind.

Instead, raise your sights and get a broader philosophical view of the world.

"Suppose I should die within 3 days," you can think to yourself. "Would I be so wrought up over this unfinished item on today's work agenda?"

You'll be pleasantly surprised at how quickly this wider viewpoint will pay dividends.

You'll then be able to ignore petty irritations at home which otherwise would set you into a tantrum.

Join God's Team And join God's team! Be sure your job helps make the world at least a little better or safer or happier.

If it doesn't then get out of that line of work and pick a job that does give solace to your morale.

Lincoln said he hoped to plant roses where thistles grew before. Well, if you are planting thistles in life, all the liquor and sedatives in the world will never allay your conscience and stop your insomnia.

So get on God's team NOW. Which means you must be in a line of work where you plant roses!

Maybe you think your work plants very tiny roses, but even a dwarfed rose beats the largest thistle ever grown!

At night you can also relax your mind by taking six very deep breaths and then holding the last one for 30 seconds.

This process makes you dizzy and inclined to let go of your hectic workaday problems.

Then actually lift your hand aloft as if you are placing it in God's own hand and whisper to yourself:

"Lord, I'm working on your team. I'm trying to plant roses instead of thistles."

"But I must get up early tomorrow to be back on the job, so will you please take over the night shift for me?"

And God never refuses to take over your night shift! Try this bedtime ritual and see for your full satisfaction.

God is far superior to alcohol and tranquilizer pills, as well as sleeping potions. So quit wasting money on attempts to hide from facing the simple facts.

Furthermore, insomnia doesn't kill anybody, so why make such a bugaboo of it?

You gain the chief benefits of slumber just by lying flat, even if your eyes are open.

Meanwhile, read an educational book or the New Testament and you'll soon doze off.

But don't forget to raise your hand and ask God to handle your night shift!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

On Time?

A DEADLINE is both wonderful

... And treacherous in life ... Of struggle and of strife ... Each deadline that you meet brings joy ... It is a victory won ... And automatically it proves ... The task has been well done ... But now and then a deadline may ... Be just the one you miss ... And as it happens, Lady Luck ... May give a fatal kiss ... In journalism, deadlines mark ... A most important score ... But when you have to deal with God ... It means a really lot more ... The only deadline in this life ... You really have to fear ... Is whether you will be on time ... With sentiment sincere.

reached "within two or three weeks after" the hearing later this month if all the evidence required is made available.

"It is not the desire of the commission, in any way, to drag out or prolong the proceedings," McKelthen explained.

But he pointed out that the decision as to whether Southern Bell is deserving of a rate increase will be made from the evidence presented at the hearing and not from the paid advertisements which the telephone company has been bombarding the public with.

"I am as much for progress as anyone in this state," he stated. "However, I do not intend to be coerced into making a decision contrary to the evidence developed at the hearing," McKelthen stated.

Delegation's View
The Grayson attorney said in the interview that the Shreveport delegation was interested in seeing the telephone company continue its expansion program in that area.

"I have stated before and I will state again that a sit-down strike by the telephone company is wrong," he declared. "This is the same practice that the company has always condemned their employees for when they can't agree on wages."

McKelthen said the Shreveport delegation "made it clear that they were not attempting to judge the merits of the company's application for increased rates."

"And I assured them that we are going to press this hearing as quickly as possible in keeping with the law and orderly procedure," McKelthen explained.

"Our commission is going to abide by the laws of this state as interpreted by the Supreme Court," he said. "We expect the telephone company to do likewise."

Charges Filed
BATON ROUGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Police said negligent homicide charges were filed today against a woman driver involved in the traffic death of an eight-year-old school girl.

Charges were filed against Mrs. Merle Sprouse, 34, after a coroner's hearing in the accidental traffic death yesterday of the victim, Margaret Mae Harris.

The child started across a street after school with two companions. She froze in her tracks, police said, while the other two leaped backwards to safety when a car sped at them.

Witnesses estimated the auto speed ranged from 40 to 70 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone, during the coroner hearing.

Mrs. Sprouse posted a $1,000 bond.

Non-Payment Charged To 2 Monroians

Two Monroe businessmen have been called to court on charges of non-payment of the Louisiana General Sales Tax. A deficit of more than $16,600 is charged against one man.

Due to appear in court on Feb. 24 are Walter Reed, doing business as Walter Reed Refrigeration Co., at 209 Louisville Ave., and W. R. Foy, who operates the F and L Body Shop, 2005 DeSiard St.

Failure To Pay
Reed is charged with failure to pay the taxes from Jan. 1952 to June 1954, August and September 1955, January and February 1957 and June through August, 1957.

For the time through February, 1957, he is charged with owing $10,276.08, plus penalty and interest which bring the total to $14,389.73. He is also liable for interest on that amount after Aug. 21, 1957.

From June through August, 1957, he is charged with $1,975.56 in taxes, plus penalties and interest making a total of $2,215.35 plus additional interest from Dec. 21, 1957.

Foy is charged with failure to pay taxes in June and July, 1956, and from February through August, 1957, for a total of $267.05, plus interest and penalties totaling $46.07.

Police Investigate Theft Of Money
Monroe police investigated yesterday the reported loss of $70 by a local hospital patient who said the money was taken from his hospital room.

Officials said a check into the matter produced neither the money or a suspect. Police said they were notified by a St. Francis Hospital official yesterday, who reported that R. B. Martin, 709 Guy St., discovered the money missing from his wallet.

No Decision Yet On Polk, Says M'Elroy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy told Louisiana members of Congress today no final decision will be made on the possible closing of Ft. Polk, La., until after Congress acts on the military portion of the President's budget.

At the same time, the Louisianaans said, McElroy sidestepped a chance to say that the post would be continued in operation if Congress provided necessary authorizations and funds.

At a conference in the office of Sen. Ellender (D-La.) were McElroy, Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker, Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, acting Army chief of staff, Ellender, Sen. Long (D-La.) and Reps. Hebert, Thompson and Long, Louisiana Democrats.

The Army has halted further Canechar housing construction at Polk and has said that if Army forces are cut—as contemplated by the new budget—some Army facilities will be closed. The Army said Polk will be among the posts under study to determine which will be closed.

The Louisiana group said in a statement today that the conference went over all issues involved, including "the breach of faith with people of the area surrounding Ft. Polk on the part of the military authorities should the facility be closed."

This was a reference to the fact that when Polk was made a permanent installation two years ago the state and residents in the area gave the Army maneuver rights to a huge part of the state in return for an understanding Polk would be operated on a permanent basis.

The Louisianaans said McElroy was asked this question:

"Assuming that a new authorization is passed fixing the minimum Army strength at 1,029,000 men and assuming further that Congress appropriate sufficient funds, what will be the view of the Defense Department (as regards to Polk)?"

McElroy was quoted as responding: "We would hope you wouldn't do that—if you did I would say we would have to look at it very closely."

The secretary said further "Louisianaans' statement continued, that 'if we have additional money to spend, what is the priority, manpower or other things?'"

"He indicated further that since the joint chiefs of staff are the national military advisers it is up to them to decide which programs are the most important and to recommend use of funds in accordance therewith."

"He also stated that the joint chiefs of staff are of the opinion that an adequate defense of the country is provided under the President's fiscal 1959 budget as it now stands."

while carrying a bucket of sewer line cement boiling at 380 degrees Fahrenheit.

Ray Roberts, 312 N. 3rd St., West Monroe said he was burned on the right hand while working on sewer constructions near Highland School in West Monroe.

The man said his hand was severely burned, and that this was the first serious burn he had received in over five years of working with the heated substance. The accident occurred late Thursday.

Camera Club To Meet At College Monday Night

The Northeast Louisiana Camera Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Room 202 of the Fine Arts Building on the Northeast State College campus.

Guest speaker for the meeting will be Edward Schultz, art professor at the college. Shultz will consider "Composition and Harmony In Photography and Paintings."

The regular meeting date of first and third Tuesday nights was changed so the group might engage Schultz as speaker.

Two Minor Accidents In 5 Minutes

Two minor auto accidents that happened five minutes apart at the same place left a 51-year-old woman injured here late yesterday, police reported.

Mrs. Mary Waddell complained of neck pains and was taken to a hospital for observation.

According to police, the first accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. when one eastbound car banged the rear of another at DeSiard Road and Hill Street when traffic was stopping suddenly. Then another vehicle pulled from Hill Street into the line of traffic on DeSiard Road and was struck by a westbound car, police said.

First Accident
In the first accident police identified Robert E. Waddell, 19, of Arlington, Va., as one driver who told authorities he was stopping for traffic slowing in front of him, when his car was rammed from behind.

His mother, a passenger, was the injured woman.

Driver of the second vehicle was identified by authorities as Harrison P. Lofton, 37, of Bossier City Air Force Base.

The second smashup occurred when James M. Segura, 18, a Northeast College student pulled from Hill Street onto DeSiard Road and a car driven by Henry D. Gullette, 28 of Rt. 3 Monroe, struck the Segura car, police explained.

Postmasters To Meet On Feb. 22

The annual meeting of the National League of Postmasters will take place on Feb. 22 at the Bentley Hotel in Alexandria.

Members of the League in this area include Mrs. Thelma Humble, postmaster at Calhoun, and Mrs. Minnie Baldwin, Bernice postmaster.

Postal officials who will discuss departmental problems at the session include L. H. Stephens, postal inspector in charge at Fort Worth, Tex.; M. H. Creed, district operations manager at New Orleans; H. D. Newton and E. A. Clinkenbeard, postal inspectors at Alexandria; and Gene Griffing, national committeeman at Danbury, Tex.

SPEAKER
MER ROUGE (Special)—Miss Shirley Cox, who attended the Sixth Quadrantal Methodist Student Movement Conference at Kansas City, Kan., recently, was speaker at the Mer Rouge Methodist Church this week.

POSITIONS OPEN
Police duty in Washington, D. C., and three positions with the Department of Agriculture are now open through civil service. Two hundred privates in the Washington police departments, with pay ranging from $4,193 to $4,990, are needed. Examinations are also being offered for agricultural marketing specialists with pay from $4,525 to $10,320 yearly, and for agricultural market reporters, at $4,525 to $5,390. The work is with the Department of Agriculture, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and other federal agencies. Applications and information may be obtained from John S. Daniel at the Monroe Post Office.

The regular meeting date of first and third Tuesday nights was changed so the group might engage Schultz as speaker.

Two Minor Accidents In 5 Minutes

Two minor auto accidents that happened five minutes apart at the same place left a 51-year-old woman injured here late yesterday, police reported.

Mrs. Mary Waddell complained of neck pains and was taken to a hospital for observation.

According to police, the first accident occurred at 5:40 p.m. when one eastbound car banged the rear of another at DeSiard Road and Hill Street when traffic was stopping suddenly. Then another vehicle pulled from Hill Street into the line of traffic on DeSiard Road and was struck by a westbound car, police said.

First Accident

In the first accident police identified Robert E. Waddell, 19, of Arlington, Va., as one driver who told authorities he was stopping for traffic slowing in front of him, when his car was rammed from behind.

His mother, a passenger, was the injured woman.

Driver of the second vehicle was identified by authorities as Harrison P. Lofton, 37, of Bossier City Air Force Base.

The second smashup occurred when James M. Segura, 18, a Northeast College student pulled from Hill Street onto DeSiard Road and a car driven by Henry D. Gullette, 28 of Rt. 3 Monroe, struck the Segura car, police explained.

Postmasters To Meet On Feb. 22

The annual meeting of the National League of Postmasters will take place on Feb. 22 at the Bentley Hotel in Alexandria.

Members of the League in this area include Mrs. Thelma Humble, postmaster at Calhoun, and Mrs. Minnie Baldwin, Bernice postmaster.

Postal officials who will discuss departmental problems at the session include L. H. Stephens, postal inspector in charge at Fort Worth, Tex.; M. H. Creed, district operations manager at New Orleans; H. D. Newton and E. A. Clinkenbeard, postal inspectors at Alexandria; and Gene Griffing, national committeeman at Danbury, Tex.

SPEAKER

MER ROUGE (Special) —Miss Shirley Cox, who attended the Sixth Quadrant Methodist Student Movement Conference at Kansas City, Kan., recently, was speaker at the Mer Rouge Methodist Church this week.

MORELAND GETS 26

Techmen Crush Northeast, 92-70, To Vacate Basement

Louisiana Tech crushed Northeast, 92-70, last night in a bruising battle for the Gulf States Conference cellar at the Ouachita gym before a standing room only crowd.

Tech broke up a close ball game in the first ten minutes of the second half and was going a full gallop at the end. Northeast, behind, 37-33, at the halftime intermission, pulled to within one point of the Bulldogs with 1:40 gone in the second half but never gained the lead and fell further behind and the minutes ticked off.

The game broke a tie for last place in the conference and Northeast is left all alone in the basement with a 1-6 record. Tech, the preseason title favorite, is now 2-5 in the loop and 13-8 for the season. Northeast took its 13th loss against eight victories.

Jackie Moreland was the big gun for Tech, scoring 26 points, tops for the night, and grabbing 19 rebounds, also best for the evening. Charles "Bud" Frye, a quicksilver guard backed up Moreland well with 18 points and Gary Richardson had the same.

John Freeman was the high scorer for Northeast with 24 points. Billy May had 12 and Lyle Dorsey contributed 11.

The first half was close only toward the end with Tech taking an early 2-0 lead, the Indians tying it at 2-2 and then going ahead, 3-2, on Huey Cottrell's charity toss.

Tech went ahead again at 5-5 with 2 minutes gone. Five points by Moreland and two by Richardson gave Tech a 12-5 lead with 15:40 left in the half.

Tech kept Northeast doubled most of the half but the Indians began to pull up in the last ten minutes, hitting well and controlling the defensive backboard. Beginning with Stegall's shot with 9:14 to go that made it 22-13 with Tech ahead, Northeast made five straight field goals and a charity toss while shutting out Tech to make it 22-22 with 4:50 left.

Woodward put Tech back in front with 4:40 left, 24-22, and by halftime it was 37-33.

North-east pulled to within one point of the invaders, 38-37, with 1:40 gone in the second half but they were downhill the rest of the way. With ten minutes left in the half it was 63-46, with five left it was 72-58, with three left it was 78-62, and Moreland sank a long jump shot with one second left to complete the rout, 92-70.

Simsboro defeated Ouachita in a preliminary game, 67-48. It was Simsboro's 36th win against only four defeats.

Jerry Alexander had 20 points for the winners and was ably supported by J. B. Edmonston's 19, and Max Lewis' 18. Ouachita's Billy Roach was tops for the losers with 22 markers and Lanny Johnson contributed 10.

L. T. I. Chapel and Temple Baptist pulled further ahead in the Church "A" League race last night as Fisher hooped 24 points to lead L. T. I. in a 58-44 win over Green Acres, and Boyett bagged 20 in firing Temple to a 49-42 victory over St. Matthew's. Buffington led Green Acres with 18, and Imzina also had 18 for St. Matthew's.

League-leading Cypress Baptist polished off Victory Baptist, 46-28, in the Church "B" League in which Swartz downed Edgewood, 32-28, and Cheniere claimed a default over Brownville. Scoring leaders were Penton, Cypress, 21; Yeager, Edgewood, 12; and McGough, Victory, and Scott, Swartz, 10 each.

Two games played in the Mid-Get League with the Wildcats beating St. Matthew's, 18-15, and L. T. I. dropping First Methodist, 29-8, after Trinity won on a default from the Eagles. NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—They'll trot out four newcomers to face Ron Delany tomorrow when the Villanova Irishman shoots for his 20th consecutive mile victory in the feature of the New York Athletic Club games.

Jim Grelle, a collegian from Oregon, is one. He was runner-up to Delany in the National Collegiate mile last spring, but never has gone as low as 4:07.

Another is Istvan Rozsavolgyi, the Hungarian who holds the listed world's record at 2,000 meters, 1,500 meters and 1,000 meters.

Rozsavolgyi arrived here only Thursday and got his first look at a board track that day.

Rozsavolgyi knows that Delany's finishing kick has worn down literally dozens of opponents. He also knows that he must be prepared to run the final quarter in something around 57 seconds if he is to give Delany any contest.

Burr Grime of Maryland, who set a fine pace last week in an effort to pull Delany out, will be back, as will Jim Beatty of the U.S. Army. Peter Close of St. John's and Zbigniew Orywal of Poland, other mile newcomers, round out the field.

TEXAS OPEN GOLF

Marr Shoots 71 As Winds Ruin His Top Challengers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Young Dave Marr's bold but unsteady par 71 kept him six strokes ahead of a faltering field in the $15,000 Texas Open today.

A capricious wind did exasperating things, particularly on the greens, and there were few of the big names within striking distance of the confident little man from Cedarhurst, Long Island, as he posted 134 for 36 holes.

It was a far cry from yesterday when the handsome native Texan shot a blazing 8-under-par 63 over soggy, 6,490-yard Brackenridge Park course with the frozen greens. Then he was six strokes ahead of four shotmakers. Today they had dwindled to three—Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla.; Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, and Walker Inman Jr., who came out of the pack with a 69 to pull into a tie for second.

It was cut-off day, with the 60 low pros and ties and all nine amateurs going into the final 36 holes. The most notable casualty was Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., the defending champion. Hebert shot a 75 to take himself out. He had 149 for 36 holes.

They gave Hebert a birthday cake on the 18th green—he was 35 today—but it wasn't a very happy occasion for the man from Louisiana.

The best rounds shot today were by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W. Va.; Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y.; and Jerry Magee of Toronto, Canada—each with a 3-under-par 68.

But all three still were over the 140 mark.

More than a dozen bettered par, comparable to yesterday.

A 147 was required to make the final 36 holes and among those falling out were Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., the 1954 champion; Tony Holguin of Midolthian, Ill., the 1953 winner; E. J. Harrison of St. Louis, twice champion here; Jack Burke of Klamath Lake, N.Y., champion in 1952, and Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, who had a horrendous 80 today. Bolt, the most tempestuous man in golf, was steaming, but in silence.

Harper had 151, Holguin 148, Harrison 149 and Burke 148.

The leaders: Dave Marr, Cedarhurst, Long Island, N.Y., 67-71-141.

Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah, 69-71-140.

Walker Inman Jr., Bolton, Mass., 71-69-140.

Declares NCAA Out Of Bounds On Field's Use

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP)—The use of college athletic facilities by outsiders "is our business and not that of the National Collegiate Athletic Association," Dr. Gaylor P. Harnwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania, said today.

Dr. Harnwell referred to reported threats by the NCAA to legislate against colleges making facilities available for professional football. Penn recently granted the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League permission to play at Franklin Field for the next three years.

Dr. Harnwell said the NCAA has been considering such legislation for years. He said they were deterred because "it really is not the concern of the association. The use of our athletic facilities by outsiders pertains to our business xxx."

Dr. Harnwell said that for the NCAA to infringe on this field would be "an invasion of the University's rights and its responsibilities to the community."

Jenkins Retains World's Ice Figure Skating Title

By PETER UEBERSAX

PARIS (UP)—David Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., carrying on courageously despite a pulled angle muscle, retained his world figure skating crown Friday night with a near-flawless exhibition in the concluding free skating competition.

Jenkins, younger brother of four-time world champion Hayes Alan Jenkins, trailed Tim Brown of Glendora, Calif., by 17 points after Thursday's compulsory (school) figures. However, he came back Friday night to outclass his fellow compatriot and college pal with one of his greatest performances.

An acknowledged master at free skating, Jenkins was awarded a low score of nine placements in the final event while Brown totaled 29 to finish second. In the aggregate point distribution, Jenkins wound up with 1,745.2 points and Brown finished with 1,684.4.

Alain Giletti of France was third with 25 placements and 1,627.7 points.

Brown, who attends Colorado State with Jenkins, ruined his title chances when he fell while attempting an intricate leap and skidded into the boards on the seat of his pants.

Jenkins almost fell when he did a triple flip — one of the most

Grid Eagles Get Shaw As Coach

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles today named Lawrence T. "Buck" Shaw to coach the club out of the National Football League cellar.

Club President Frank McNamee announced the appointment of Shaw, former Air Force Academy and San Francisco Forty-Niner coach, as head coach of the Eagles for "an extended term" at an estimated $20,000 a year.

Shaw, 60-year-old former Notre Dame star who also coaches at Santa Clara, Nevada and North Carolina State, succeeds Hugh Devore, fired last Jan. 13 after two unimpressive seasons. Devore is being paid off on the last year of a three-year pact.

Club officials refused to define "extended term" but it was learned the contract was for one year with a renewal option on both sides. Shaw reportedly requested the one-year contract on the promise that if he produced a winning team they could talk long term later. If he failed to produce at the end of the year he could quit.

Shaw, who came to town from his Menlo Park, Calif., home last night and was introduced at a news conference today, said he did not quit the Air Force Academy to take the Eagles' job. He said the Academy needed and wanted more time than he could devote to the task. He resigned at the Academy Jan. 28, after posting a 9-8-2 record in two seasons.

"My arrangements with the Eagles are such that my coaching duties will not interfere with my business commitments in San Francisco.

The silver thatched football veteran, a teammate of Notre Dame's immortal George Gipp, said he had been given complete freedom to choose his own assistants, but, "I have no thoughts on that matter now. I would say it will take a month or more to decide. I'm leaving for home tomorrow and probably will handle the matter by long distance telephone with Vince McNally."

McNally, the Eagles' general manager, appeared the happiest man in the room. Shaw was the general manager's personal choice for the job, a man he says he is quite willing to sink or swim with. McNally, who was bypassed when the Eagles signed Devore two years ago and has resented it ever since, describes Shaw as "an organizer, strategist and firm hand."

Shaw is no stranger to pro football. He guided the San Francisco Forty-Niners for nine years — four in the old All-America Conference and five in the NFL, winning 70, losing 40 and tying 4. His 49ers finished runnerup to the Cleveland Browns four times in the AAC and twice in the NFL.

He said today that his absence from pro football had not dulled his knowledge of their game. "I've followed the pros and believe I know enough by this time to cope with the situation here."

He said he planned to use that T formation and that his first task would be to acquire, if he hasn't got one on the squad, a top flight quarterback.

"You can't run through this league. You have to pass," said Shaw, adding, "A good quarterback is worth almost anything, a top draft choice or a veteran performer in a trade."

He said his actual working months would probably be from July 1, to the end of the season, as attendance at the league's annual January meeting. Obviously he plans to lean greatly on McNally, an old friend and coaching associate, in the handling of personnel.

Shaw becomes the sixth Eagles coach since 1950, when Earl (Greasy) Neale was fired after winning three division titles and two world championships. He inherits a team loaded with good rookies and a pretty good defense, needing a solid quarterback and cohesion to go places in the NFL.

Neville Takes 2nd By Beating Ruston

RUSTON, La. (Special)—Neville, led by sophomore, Joe Cage, upset Ruston here last night, 67-49, to finish in second place in district 2-A.

Loser of two of three previous games with Ruston, including a conference loss on their home court, Neville took the lead in the second quarter and won going away. The win gave Neville a 6-2 record in the conference, good for second place behind Jonesboro-Hodge.

Cage, only recently inserted in the starting lineup, led Coach

George Davis' outfit with 19 points. He was supported by Neil McDonald's 13 and Fred Southern's 12.

John Tom James of Ruston was the game's top man with 20 points and John Porter contributed 11.

Ruston had a 12-10 lead at the end of the first quarter but Neville was in command by halftime, 26-22. Doing an outstanding job on the backboards, Neville pushed their advantage to 44-31 by the end of the third period.

Ruston won the "B" contest, 49-45, with Oxford leading the way with 14 points. Jeff Napper got the same for Neville.

The game broke a tie for last place in the conference and Northeast is left all alone in the basement with a 1-6 record. Tech, the preseason title favorite, is now 2-5 in the loop and 13-8 for the season. Northeast took its 13th loss against eight victories.

Jackie Moreland was the big gun for Tech, scoring 26 points, tops for the night, and grabbing 19 rebounds, also best for the evening. Charles "Bud" Frye, a quicksilver guard backed up Moreland well with 18 points and Gary Richardson had the same.

John Freeman was the high scorer for Northeast with 24 points. Billy May had 12 and Lyle Dorsey contributed 11.

The first half was close only toward the end with Tech taking an early 2-0 lead, the Indians tying it at 2-2 and then going ahead, 3-2, on Huey Cottrell's charity toss. Tech went ahead again at 5-5 with 2 minutes gone. Five points by Moreland and two by Richardson gave Tech a 12-5 lead with 15:40 left in the half.

Tech kept Northeast doubled most of the half but the Indians began to pull up in the last ten minutes, hitting well and controlling the defensive backboard. Beginning with Stegall's shot with 9:14 to go that made it 22-13 with Tech ahead, Northeast made five straight field goals and a charity toss while shutting out Tech to make it 22-22 with 4:50 left.

Woodward put Tech back in front with 4:40 left, 24-22, and by halftime it was 37-33.

Northeast pulled to within one point of the invaders, 33-37, with 1:40 gone in the second half but they were downhill the rest of the way. With ten minutes left in the half it was 63-46, with five left it was 72-58, with three left it was 78-62, and Moreland sank a long jump shot with one second left to complete the rout, 92-70.

Simsboro defeated Ouachita in a preliminary game, 67-48. It was Simsboro's 38th win against only four defeats.

Neville Takes 2nd By Beating Ruston

RUSTON, La. (Special)—Neville, led by sophomore, Joe Cagle, upset Ruston here last night, 67-49, to finish in second place in district 2-A.

Loser of two of three previous games with Ruston, including a conference loss on their home court, Neville took the lead in the second quarter and won going away. The win gave Neville a 6-2 record in the conference, good for second place behind Jonesboro-Hodge.

Cagle, only recently inserted in the starting lineup, led Coach

George Davis' outfit with 19 points. He was supported by Neil McDonald's 13 and Fred Southern's 12.

John Tom James of Ruston was the game's top man with 20 points and John Porter contributed 11.

Ruston had a 12-10 lead at the end of the first quarter but Neville was in command by halftime, 26-22. Doing an outstanding job on the backboards, Neville pushed their advantage to 44-31 by the end of the third period.

Ruston won the "B" contest, 49-45, with Oxford leading the way with 14 points. Jeff Napper got the same for Neville.

Victories Easy In 7-C Meet At Mer Rouge

MER ROUGE, La. (Special)—Oak Ridge, Monticello and Mer Rouge boys took easy victories yesterday in the 7-C Tournament held here with Oak Ridge having the easiest time, winning a forfeit from Southside of Monroe.

Monticello whipped Start, 48-27, and Mer Rouge playing its second string all the way in slaughtering Collinston, 82-18.

Today Central girls will meet Mer Rouge at 10 a.m., Central boys engage Monticello at 11:15 a.m., Monticello girls play Start at 12:30 p.m. and Mer Rouge boys tackle Oak Ridge at 1:45. All these are semifinal games.

The girls finals will be at 7 and the boys at 8:15.

Finals Reached In Mixed 4-Ball Golf Tournament

JUPITER, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Md., teamed with Tim Holland of New York City, will play Mariene Stewart Streitt of Font Hills, Ontario, and Lt. Hillman Robbins of Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., in the finals of the National Mixed Four-somes Golf Tournament tomorrow.

The Downey-Holland combination defeated Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and Willie Turnesa of Elmford, N.Y., 2-up in today's semifinals. Mrs. Streitt and Robbins took the measure of Clifford Ann Creed of Opelousas, La., and William Hyndman 3rd, of Philadelphia, 2 and 1.

The 36-hole finals over the Requetta Country Club course will be split into morning and afternoon rounds.

Tulane Gridders Opening Spring Drills Monday

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (AP)—Coach Andy Pilney today called for Tulane to begin 20 days of football practice Monday after a week's delay because of bad weather.

Pilney will have a 61-man squad, including 29 members of last season's undefeated freshman team and 18 lettermen from the 1957 team.

The defeat snapped Redl's victory streak at 17 straight.

Canadian Kerwin now living at Valley Stream, N.Y., won the votes of the two judges, but Referee Larry Napp—who umpires American League baseball games in the summer time—favored the slugger from Germany, who now lives in Passaic, N.J.

Slender Kerwin's victory may have been achieved partially through a fluke knockdown in the sixth round. He knocked stocky Redl sideways and off balance so that Stefan touched the canvas with his gloves.

Napp ruled it a knockdown and forced the angry Redl to take the mandatory eight-count on his feet. yzhr tulinh ed noorf ludlyly ny yr vtoef, rdymsyrf sy 4,000.

last year, is expected to make a determined bid to return to the form that would make him a 15- or 20-game winner. This scene was at St. Petersburg, Fla., where Mizel practiced in the YMCA with rookies forced in by cold weather. (AP Wirephoto)

TEXAS OPEN GOLF

Marr Shoots 71 As Winds Ruin His Top Challengers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Young Dave Marr's bold but unsteady par 71 kept him six strokes ahead of a faltering field in the $15,000 Texas Open today.

A capricious wind did exasperating things, particularly on the greens, and there were few of the big names within striking distance of the confident little man from Cedarhurst, Long Island, as he posted 134 for 36 holes.

It was a far cry from yesterday when the handsome native Texan shot a blazing 8-under-par 63 over soggy 6,490-yard Brackenridge Park course with the frozen greens. Then he was six strokes ahead of four shotmakers. Today they had dwindled to three—Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla.; Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, and Walker Inman Jr., who came out of the pack with a 69 to pull into a tie for second.

It was cut-off day, with the 60 low pros and ties and all nine amateurs going into the final 36 holes. The most notable casualty was Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., the defending champion. Hebert shot a 75 to take himself out. He had 149 for 36 holes.

They gave Hebert a birthday cake on the 18th green—he was 35 today—but it wasn't a very happy occasion for the man from Louisiana.

The best rounds shot today were by Mike Krak of Morgantown, W. Va.; Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Jerry Magee of Toronto, Canada—each with a 3-under-par 68.

But all three still were over the 140 mark.

More than a dozen bettered par, comparable to yesterday.

A 147 was required to make the final 36 holes and among those falling out were Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., the 1954 champion; Tony Holguin of Midlothian, Ill., the 1953 winner; E. J. Harrison of St. Louis, twice champion here; Jack Burke of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., champion in 1952, and Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, who had a horrendous 80 today. Bolt, the most tempestuous man in golf, was steaming, but in silence.

Harper had 151, Holguin 148, Harrison 149 and Burke 148.

The leaders:

Dave Marr, Cedarhurst, Long Island, N.Y., 63-71-134.

Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla., 69-71-140.

Walker Inman Jr., Bolton, Mass., 71-69-140.

B. J. Johnston, Provo, Utah, 69-71-140.

Mike Krak, Morgantown, W. Va., 73-68-141.

Stan Leonard, Vancouver, Canada, 69-73-142.

Dave Douglas, St. Louis, 70-72-142.

Jimmie Demaree, Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., 70-72-142.

Joe Jimenez, Manhattan, Kans., 73-70-143.

Art Doering, Fox Chapel, Pa., 74-69-143.

Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., 74-69-143.

Paul O'Leary, Culver City, Calif., 72-71-143.

Bob Rosburg, Napa, Calif., 74-69-143.

Wesley Ellis Jr., Ridgewood, N.Y., 72-71-143.

Sam Urzetta, Rochester, N.Y., 70-73-143.

Mike Fetchick, Yonkers, N.Y., 72-71-143.

$20,000 A YEAR

Grid Eagles Get Shaw As Coach

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles today named Lawrence T. "Buck" Shaw to coach the club out of the National Football League cellar.

Club President Frank McNamee announced the appointment of Shaw, former Air Force Academy and San Francisco Forty-Niner coach, as head coach of the Eagles for "an extended term" at an estimated $20,000 a year.

Shaw, 60-year-old former Notre Dame star who also coaches at Santa Clara, Nevada, and North Carolina State, succeeds Hugh Devore, fired last Jan. 13 after two unimpressive seasons. Devore is being paid off on the last year of a three-year pact.

Cub officials refused to define "extended term" but it was learned the contract was for one year with a renewal option on both sides. Shaw reportedly requested the one-year contract on the promise that if he produced a winning team they could talk long term later. If he failed to produce at the end of the year he could quit.

Shaw, who came to town from his Menlo Park, Calif., home last night and was introduced at a news conference today, said he did not quit the Air Force Academy to take the Eagles' job. He said the Academy needed and wanted more time than he could devote to the task. He resigned at the Academy Jan. 28, after posting a 9-8-2 record in two seasons.

"My arrangements with the Eagles are such that my coaching duties will not interfere with my business commitments in San Francisco.

The silver thatched football veteran, a teammate of Notre Dame's immortal George Gipp, said he had been given complete freedom to choose his own assistants, but, "I have no thoughts on that matter now. I would say it will take a month or more to decide. I'm leaving for home tomorrow and probably will handle the matter by long distance telephone with Vince McNally."

McNally, the Eagles' general manager, appeared the happiest man in the room. Shaw was the general manager's personal choice for the job, a man he says he is quite willing to sink or swim with. McNally, who was bypassed when the Eagles signed Devore two years ago and has resented it ever since, describes Shaw as "an organizer, strategist and firm hand."

Shaw is no stranger to pro football. He guided the San Francisco Forty-Niners for nine years — four in the old All-America Conference and five in the NFL, winning 70, losing 40 and tying 4. His 49ers finished runnerup to the Cleveland Browns four times in the AAC and twice in the NFL.

He said today that his absence from pro football had not dulled his knowledge of their game. "I've followed the pros and believe I know enough by this time to cope with the situation here." He said he planned to use that T formation and that his first task would be to acquire, if he hasn't got one on the squad, a top flight quarterback.

"You can't run through this league. You have to pass," said Shaw, adding, "A good quarterback is worth almost anything, a top draft choice or a veteran performer in a trade."

He said his actual working months would probably be from July 1, to the end of the season and attendance at the league's annual January meeting. Obviously he plans to learn greatly on McNally, an old friend and coaching associate, in the handling of personnel.

Shaw becomes the sixth Eagles coach since 1950, when Earl (Greasy) Neale was fired after winning three division titles and two world championships. He inherits a team loaded with good rookies and a pretty good defense, needing a solid quarterback and cohesion to go places in the NFL.

MCNEESE TONIGHT

Demons In Fight To Stay On Top

NATCHITOCHES, La. (Special) — Two rugged contests at home and four on the road — all of which are important Gulf States Conference games — face the rising Northwestern State Demons, beginning here Saturday night.

With revenge uppermost in their minds, the powerful McNeese State Cowboys, defending champions of the GSC, will roll into Demon gymnasium Saturday at 8 p.m. to begin the long pull for the local quintet.

McNeese, still smarting from the licking they took at the hands of the NSC cagers in Lake Charles on Feb. 1, will be out to "erase" that 56-47 score when they get to Natchitoches.

Ouachita Men At Shreveport Wildlife Meet

A delegation from the Ouachita Wildlife Unit left Monroe yesterday to attend the 19th annual Louisiana Wildlife Federation Convention, at the Captain Shreve Hotel in Shreveport.

Jack Rushing, vice - president of the unit, will head the delegation, which said it would represent the interests of the Monroe area sportsmen at the convention.

Registration at the convention began yesterday at noon. The convention will continue through Sunday under the direction of federation president Lloyd F. Abadie of New Orleans.

The program this morning will be devoted to committee meetings and the annual luncheon will be held at noon with James E. Mixon, state forester, as the featured speaker.

E. R. McDonald, Sr., president of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission, of Newell-ton will address the convention this afternoon.

New officers will be elected Sunday morning.

Wausau Quits If Major Club Does Not Help

WAUSAU, Wis., Feb. 14 (AP) — The president of the Wausau club of the Northern Baseball League said today that the Lumberjacks would forfeit their franchise if they are unable to make a deal "immediately" to affiliate with a major league club.

The Lumberjacks have been negotiating with the Kansas City Athletics for a full working agreement in preference to any player-aid deal. Meanwhile, they have stalled past the deadline for making the necessary $2,000 minor league deposit to keep their franchise, but were granted an extension by Northern League officials.

Today club president W. F. Lorey said, "We will voluntarily forfeit our franchise if some satisfactory operating arrangement does not become available immediately."

However, at Kansas City, Hank Peters, director of the A's farm system, said Wausau was not being taken on as farm club. "We are not in a position to add to the number of clubs we now have," Peters said. "We now have eight farm clubs and that is the most efficient number for our organization."

TRUCKER RANKS HIGH

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Terry Rand, 6 - foot - 9 center of the Denver - Chicago Truckers in the National Industrial Basketball League, has been named the outstanding amateur athlete in the Rocky Mountain Assn. AAU. Rand was selected by a board of 175 sports leaders in Colorado and Wyoming.

Woznicki, declared ineligible for Pitt's remaining six games, should not have played at all this season because an Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference rule requires that varsity competition be completed within a five-year period. Woznicki first entered college in 1952.

Pitt Athletic Director Tom Hamilton said Woznicki's playing was an "honest mistake" both on his part and on the part of the school. Walt Byers, NCAA executive secretary, said in Kansas City the NCAA has no five-year rule, but NCAA rules were violated because they require that schools follow the rules of the conference to which they belong.

A. C. (Dutch) Lonborg, athletic director at Kansas University and chairman of the NCAA eligibility committee, said at Lawrence, Kan., that "my first thought is that since no intentional violation has been committed, Pittsburgh should not be intentionally precluded from tournament consideration."

Hamilton said he had written to the 11 schools which Pitt defeated with Woznicki in the lineup and offered to forfeit the games "if they feel they should be awarded to the win."

It was believed that option would not be exercised by any of the schools. The schools were Michigan, Furman, Duke, Manhattan, St. John's, Penn State, Geneva, Westminster, Holy Cross, Connecticut and Carnegie Tech.

Woznicki, who scored 76 points in 16 games for Pitt, entered Baldwin - Wallace in September, 1952, but did not finish a semester because of a physical injury and returned home. He entered Geneva in February, 1953, transferred to Trinidad Junior College in Colorado in September, 1953, and then to Pitt in September, 1954. He sat out one year at Pitt.

Woznicki did not play basketball at Baldwin-Wallace and Geneva. He went out for the team at Pitt in 1955 and 1956 but did not make it. He played in 1957 but did not win a letter.

Woznicki's eligibility was discovered Thursday, Hamilton said, after a reporter pointed out he may have been in college too long to take part in inter-school athletics.

Spartans Need Triumph Over Illinois Today

CHICAGO (UP) — Michigan State can carve itself a lone notch atop the tight Big Ten Conference race if the Spartans can get past Illinois in a regionally televised Saturday afternoon game.

The Spartans, 5-3, are tied for the lead with Indiana, idle this weekend. A Michigan State loss combined with a Michigan victory at Ohio State would drop the Spartans out of first and deadlock the Wolverines and idle Hoosiers in the driver's seat.

Another possibility is idle Indiana grabbing the top honors alone if both Michigan State and Michigan bow.

Other action in the close race, which finds first and last place separated by only two games, puts Northwestern at Minnesota.

Purdue, 5-4, holds down fourth, Ohio State, 5-5, and Iowa, 4-4, are next, and Northwestern and Minnesota a half game back, at 4-5. Illinois and Wisconsin bring up the rear with 3-5 marks.

While Michigan State took its turn in the lead spot, two Spartans moved up in the individual scoring race. Center Johnny Green climbed to sixth place with a 17.4 average and teammate Larry Hadden is one bracket below at 17.3.

Big Archie Dees strengthened his scoring lead by pouring 30 points against Wisconsin last weekend, for a 24.9 average. Don Ohl of Illinois, 23.3, is second and Minnesota's George Kline is third with a 22.2 average.

Hungarian Out To Top Indoor Mile Record

NEW YORK (UP) — Istvan Rozsavolgyi, the fleet Hungarian who was slowed by visa trouble, will try to catch Ron Delany in the Baxter Mile Saturday night, but don't bet the goulash money that he'll do it.

Rozsavolgyi, who holds or shares three official world records, began working out for his United States debut a few hours after he arrived from Europe Thursday by plane.

His bid to crack Delany's string of 22 straight indoor victories, 19 in the mile, will feature the New York Athletic Club meet at Madison Square Garden. And Rozsavolgyi already has announced, through an interpreter, that he will try to crack the world indoor mark of 4:03.6 in the race.

"I'll try to break it," he said. "In any race, I always run to break the record."

But he faces a tough task against Delany, the Irish lad from Dublin and Villanova who never has been beaten indoors in the mile.

Rozsavolgyi will be making his first start on an indoor track.

IN CAPABLE HANDS—Veteran New York Yankee catcher Charlie Silvera, now manager of New Orleans of the Southern Association, gives some pointers to two Yankee farmhands at instructional camp in St. Petersburg, Fla. Watching are Tom Tarantino, 21, San Francisco, Calif., and Bill Johnson, 22,

WARNS BOUDREAUX

Sehon Confident He'll Win Fight

Sonny Sehon, Miami Beach, Fla. fighter, says he'll "bust Al Boudreaux out of there" when they clash in 10 - round main at Gus Kallio's Arena here Monday night.

Actually, it's a double main card that has Curt Woolwine, Beaumont, Tex., and Johnny McKoin, Bastrop, in the other ten.

Sehon and Boudreaux fought in Lake Charles about a year ago, and in the first round Sehon nailed the Frenchman with a right hand. As Sonny says "Boudreaux was crawling around on the floor like a baby on his hands and knees - I really nailed him good."

And Sehon went on to say, "This time I'll really put him to sleep when I nail him - rock him to sleep like a baby with my right hand."

In recent months the flashy boxing, hard punching Miami Beach battler has fought Bob Morgan, former Southern AAU king Ervin Chaline, and Marlin Moore to name but a few.

While around Florida he fought for Angelo Dundee and was in the stable with Billy Kilgore, and many other nationally known fighters.

Sehon has beaten Mario Colon (twice) and right after beating him in 1954, Colon fought Willie Pep a great 10 - round battle. Sehon has also fought Jimmy Soo and Gene Smith of TV fame. He made a great battle with Tony Dupas and lost a very close decision at Miami Beach in 1954, and Tony Dupas just beat Herbie Rodriguez in New Orleans. Sehon has also beaten Flip Ramirez, Billy Morgan, and many others.

He fought a 10 - rounder with Alex Vargas in San Antonio.

Sehon especially is anxious to take on Boudreaux. Boudreaux broke his nose, and Sehon has contended that it was due to Boudreaux butting him. He has never got a chance for revenge, and he says he will be ready when they meet in Monroe, that Boudreaux can get just as rough as he wants to and can use his head if he wants to "because it won't do him any good." He's ready to brawl.

Oak Grove's Junior Cage Teams Climb

GOODWILL, La. (Special) — Oak Grove advanced both its boys and girls' teams yesterday in the Goodwill Junior Basketball Tournament while the Transylvania girls and Goodwill boys also moved up.

Yesterday's results and leading scorers:

Girls — Oak Grove 52, Epps 19; Transylvania 45, Forest 21. Leaders: Sanders, Oak Grove, 15; Johnson, Transylvania, 21; McCart, Forest, 12; Sims, Epps, 11. Boys — Oak Grove 59, Lake Providence 22; Goodwill 47, Epps 24. Leaders: Sowell, Oak Grove, 18; Simms, Goodwill, 20; Pinkston, Lake Providence, 10; Rawls, boys' final, 8 p.m.

Calhoun Quint Visits Dubach Rivals Tonight

CALHOUN, La. (Special) — The Calhoun High Chieftains and the Dubach High Plunging Rattlesnakes clash tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Dubach in a game that will determine one of district 3-B's two representatives in the state championship basketball playoffs.

The rival teams have not met this season, but the Plungers won first place in the northern division of the district while Coach Jerry Lovett's Chiefs were second place finishers in the southern division.

Calhoun sports a 20-15 record for the season, but nine of the 15 defeats were at the hands of Neville of Monroe and West Monroe, double - A and triple - A powers.

All - district Jerry Aulds, Calhoun's all - state candidate, and Scotty Sims, a freshman standout, have been the leading scorers for the Chiefs this season.

Roy Turner and Louie McIntosh have done outstanding work on the words with the fifth man, Johnny Grant, doing most of the ball handling. Troy Warren and Spike Smith back up the starters and do not weaken the club at all when they appear in the lineup.

Only the one game is on tap at Dubach tonight.

Today's pairings: Oak Grove girls vs. Goodwill, 10 a.m.; Oak Grove boys vs. Transylvania, 11 a.m.; Transylvania girls vs. Oak Grove-Goodwill winner, 4:30 p.m.; Goodwill boys vs. Oak Grove - Transylvania winner, 5:30; girls' final, 7 p.m.; boys' final, 8 p.m.

9-STROKE BULGE

Mrs. Pung Jumps Lead At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) — Veteran Jackie Pung of San Francisco increased her lead to nine strokes in the St. Petersburg Women's Open golf tournament Friday by shooting a 4-under-women's par 70 for a two-round total of 136.

Miss Pung, whose two-round total is 12 under women's par on the Sunset Golf Club course, hiked her lead from seven to nine strokes over second place Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., who ended the 36-hole mark with a 145. The veteran Californian's 136 in the 72-hole, $7,500 tourney was the lowest two-round card she had ever marked and tied a ladies PGA record. She shot a 37 on the first nine and took 33 strokes to finish the back nine.

The next best round of the day was turned in by Bev Hanson of Indio, Calif., whose 71 and 36-hole total of 147 moved her into a tie for third place with Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., who carded a 73.

Miss Rawls kept second place by shooting a 72. She was matched in second-round play by defending champion Mary Lena Faulk, who moved back into contention with her 72 and two-round total of 152.

The low scorers: Jackie Pung, San Francisco, 66-70-136. Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C. 73-72-145. Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga., 74-73-147.

Bev Hanson, Indio, Calif., 76-71-147. Bonnie Randolph, Naples, 73-74-149. Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., 74-76-150. x-Mary Ann Reynolds, Albany, Ga., 76-75-151. Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis., 75-76-151. Mary Lena Faulk, Delray Beach, 75-77-152. Betty Dodd, San Antonio, Tex., 78-75-153. Kathy Cornelius, Lakeland, 77-77-154. Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kans., 76-78-154. Alice Bauer, Crystal River, Fla., 79-76-155. x-Greta Leone, Chicago, 78-77-155. Ruth Jensen, Seattle, 77-79-156. Wilfrid Smith, Galveston, Tex., 78-78-156. Wanda Sanches, Baton Rouge, La., 81-76-157. Fay Crocker, Montevideo, Uruguay, 78-80-158. x-Betty Kerby, St. Petersburg, 79-79-159. Jo Ann Prentice, Birmingham, Ala., 80-78-159. x-Amateur.

NEW YORK (UP) — John Lawlor, a 220-pound weight thrower from Boston University, Friday became the fourth native of Ireland to enter the national AAU indoor track and field championships at Madison Square Garden Feb. 22.

Lawlor, a sophomore, has a best mark of 57 feet, 10 inches so far this winter in the 35-pound weight throw. His toss of 200 feet, 3 inches with the 16-pound hammer recently was ratified as a national record by the Irish Amateur Athletic Union.

Other Irish lads scheduled to compete in the American championships are Ron Delany of Villanova, who will be favored to win the mile title for the third straight year; John Dougan, a New York University freshman who will compete against Delany in the mile; and Peter McArdle, New York Athletic Club performer, who will take part in the three-mile run.

Shrine Coaches To Be Curtice And Daugherty

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 (AP) — Jack Curtice of Stanford and Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty of Michigan State will be the head coaches for next season's Shrine East - West Football game.

Curtice moved to Stanford from Utah after coaching the west to a 27 - 13 upset victory Dec. 28 at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

The Shrine also said that Curtice's assistants for the Dec. 27 game will be Len Casanova of Oregon and Bill Mead of Southern Methodist.

Assisting Daugherty with the east team will be Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin and Jack Michelosen of Pittsburgh.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Sharp Coterie Hosted By Jo Strausser

The Sharp Coterie held its regular meeting in the home of Mary Jo Strausser with Dianne Garrett as co-hostess. A business session was conducted and Joan Williams was elected to accompany Ginger Donald, president, to the Junior Musical Coterie Convention to be held in Monroe in March. The group constructed posters for the convention. Delightful snacks were served by the hostesses to some fifteen members and guests.

St. Matthews' Mardi Gras Dance Monday

Reigning as queen of the 1958 Mardi Gras court at St. Matthews' School on Monday, February 17, will be Carmela Danna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Danna, and her escort, Richard Inzina.

Other couples composing the court are: Princess Adeline Elias and Salvador Pitarro, Duchess Margaret Anzalone and Harry James Schroeder, Lady Helen Bowers and James Devereux, Lady Mary Catherine Davis and Charles Buhnick, Maid Kathryn Sievers and Daniel Gurgiole, and Maid Diana Dyer and Joseph Zarro.

After the royal procession which begins at 7:45 p.m., former Queen Rosemary Lisotta, will confer the royal power upon Carmela Danna.

Groups from Miss Armadine Renaud's school of dancing will provide the entertainment in honor of their Royal Majesties.

The Red Tops, beginning about 8:30 p.m., will furnish the music for the dance which follows.

Tea Shower Honors Mer Rouge Bride

Mrs. Helen Shepherd Patrick, recent bride, was honored recently with a tea shower in the parlor of the First Baptist Church in Mer Rouge. Hostesses for the evening occasion were Miss Mary Sue Harrison, Mrs. Keith Ogden, Mrs. Sam Ogden, and Mrs. Leo Williams.

Mrs. Henry Lewis and Miss Nannette Ogden received guests at the door. Included in the receiving line with the hostesses were Mrs. Roy Shepherd, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Patrick, mother of the groom.

The reception room was beautifully graced with pink and white floral arrangements. The serving table, overlaid in white lace, was centered with a low arrangement of stock and chrysanthemums and bore the punch service at one end with trays of embossed cakes and other confections placed at the opposite end.

Mrs. J. W. Wright and Mrs. Henry Lewis alternated at the punch service. Tea girls for the evening were Miss Charlotte Beardon, Ann Lewis, Mona Fay Gibson, Mary Blackwell, all attired in evening frocks.

The honoree chose for the evening occasion a stunning model of turquoise shantung. Many out of town guests came to shower the bride with gifts and best wishes. More than one hundred guests signed the guest book, kept by Miss Catherine Cox.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Getting Attention Of A Waiter Takes Know How

Dear Ann: I know you don't specialize in problems of etiquette but this question is something more than a matter of manners. It involves some practical information.

What is the proper technique for getting a waiter's attention? One of my good friends insists on banging his spoon against a glass. This has always seemed rude to me. Another acquaintance claps his hands or snaps his fingers, which, in my opinion, is worse. My brother-in-law, who is very uncouth, whistles, which is, of course, unforgivable.

Is there a proper way to summon a waiter without appearing to be demanding? Please speak of this in your column. I'm sure a great many people will be interested in your reply—THE INVISIBLE MAN

The best way to summon a waiter is to raise your hand, in an attempt to catch his eye. If this technique doesn't work, snag any waiter who comes along and ask him to send your waiter over. It's a strange and wonderful thing, but waiters can always find other waiters. They seem to know where to look.

If you can't get any waiter to notice you, then I suggest you stand, as if preparing to leave. If you haven't paid the check, you'll see every waiter in the place at once—including a few you never knew worked there.

Dear Ann: I've been married (if you can call it that) for 12 years. My husband works nights. He doesn't drink, smoke or gamble. But his routine doesn't include me, and that's all there is to it.

He hasn't missed a Tuesday to go bowling in 10 years. If I died and the funeral was on Tuesday, he'd ask them to hold the body till Wednesday.

Every afternoon he gets dressed like a dude and when I ask where he's going he says "Out". If I ask when he'll be back he says, "Later".

We have nothing in common but I have no grounds for divorce. He doesn't beat me, cheat on me or abuse me. He just ignores me, which I sometimes think is worse. Once I asked him if he wanted a divorce and he said "What for?" Please, Ann, give me some advice before I dry up and blow away.—PATIENT GRISELDA

You say you have no grounds for divorce—it doesn't sound as if you have any grounds for marriage either.

Twelve years ago you two chose each other as life-time partners. There must have been SOME reason. If you can't remember what it was, perhaps a visit with a marriage counselor may churn up some vital data.

Somehow along the line you two stopped communicating with each other. Silence in a marriage can be more destructive than arguing.

Urging your husband to go with town guests came to shower the bride with gifts and best wishes. More than one hundred guests signed the guest book, kept by Miss Catherine Cox.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

If Your Child Rejects Strangers—It's Normal

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

The friendly infant who does not mind who picks him up and fondles him, is as likely as the unfriendly one to reach an age when he wants nothing to do with strangers. This is as much a sign of intelligence as it is a symptom of fear or timidity and should be so considered.

But to the parent it is distressing. She wants her child to be liked and she feels that this standoffish attitude, this tendency to cry when strangers approach, to rebel when picked up, will not enhance her child's attractiveness to outsiders.

Maybe it won't for the moment, but it is more important that the child not be made self-conscious about this behavior or treated as if he were misbehaving. It is a very good time, in fact, to ignore the conduct and refuse to dignify it by any such label as timid or shy.

Let the child see that he or she has the privilege of turning away from a person without being scolded for such behavior or shown that he is misbehaving.

Rejects Relatives

The baby of nine to 12 months develops this attitude toward strangers even, at times, toward the relatives he sees infrequently. This is a great blow to Grandma and Grandpa who expect open arms from the infant when they come to visit. It is no reflection upon them as loving grandparents. It is just significant of the baby's normal development.

At two to three there is another "spell" of what the parents are certain to call timidity. The tendency of the child to refuse to talk to strangers or say the mannerly words expected of him or her; the hiding behind the mother's chair or refusing to look at the person addressing him. How unhappy that makes the mother when she is convinced the child is actually a very sweet little person.

Child's Viewpoint

Think of it from the child's viewpoint. He is often expected to accept the advances of persons whom he does not know at all. They may be the type who pounces on a child, hugging or kissing him to show love of children—without regard for the child's own feelings.

It may be because of the parental demands when company is present that the child rebels and retreats from the scene or refuses to be a part of it—just because he does not feel equal to their expectations. In due time, if parents and others do not force him to be a social being, he'll come to want and like company and strangers because they offer no menace to his body or his feelings.

If you would like our leaflet "The Timid Child," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 68 to Myrtle Meyer Elderd in care of this newspaper.

The male Blackcap bird, a small warbler, often helps his wife incubate her eggs by sitting on them while she takes a rest period. But, the male Blackcap is strictly a ham performer and often betrays the location of their nest because he continually sings while sitting on the eggs.

The cut-away front of this one-piece dress creates the impression of a soft loose jacket. Tiny trouser pleats on the skirt add further softening touches and it is neatly tied into a wonderful package for spring by a self band in back. The round collarless neckline just asks for touches of jewelry.

Physical Exam Now May Prevent Trouble

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Most people have to earn good health just as they do any other blessing. Some lucky folks are born with constitutions which seem to be able to take any amount of abuse. However, sooner or later even these show signs of wear and tear.

Today there is new emphasis on preventative medicine. However, physicians cannot do much for you unless you give them the opportunity to do so by having regular physical examinations.

Grand Jury Indicts Negro For Assault

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—The Calcasieu Parish Grand Jury yesterday indicted a 25-year-old Negro for the aggravated rape of the wife of an Air Force officer.

The indictment was returned against Odell Sandlin, a former airman at Lake Charles Air Force Base.

The grand jury in its final report today declined to return indictments in three other cases it was investigating. They included two slayings and a charge of misuse of city property by a city commissioner.

The rape for which Sandlin was indicted allegedly occurred last Oct. 15 in the woman's home. She said in a statement to police that Sandlin came to her house and asked her to take him back to the air base, then attacked her in the bedroom while she was dressing.

Sandlin was under charges of auto theft at the time the attack allegedly occurred and later was given a bad conduct discharge from the Air Force.

The jury declined to indict a 31-year-old waitress, Mrs. Donnie P. Glaspie, in the pistol-slaying of Lawrence P. Riley. Mrs. Glaspie told police she killed Riley with his own pistol after Riley had slain Thomas Cain, 24.

The shootings took place Dec. 5 on the street outside a night club.

No indictment was returned in the case of Ambrose Freeman, charged with the fatal shooting last July 27 of Joe Johnwell. Both are Negroes.

The jury also declined to indict city street commissioner William N. Cox, accused of misusing city property. Cox in reply to charges said he used city equipment to repair a road in a subdivision outside the city so he could get a trash dump there. He said the owner of the subdivision had given him permission to use the trash dump.

Gremillion Opposes U. S. Suit Stand

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion today sent to Washington his formal motion protesting the federal government's Supreme Court move to settle the offshore boundary dispute without further testimony.

This state takes the position in the Gulf of Mexico boundary fight with the U. S. Justice Department that testimony and documents will support its claims.

Mississippi, Texas, Alabama and Florida are in the case with Louisiana.

The federal government recognizes a three-mile Louisiana boundary in the Gulf, while Louisiana claims its historic boundary is at least 10.5 miles seaward in the oil-bearing waterbottoms.

Already 90 million dollars is in escrow from oil production in disputed zones.

The federal government, in a Jan. 20 motion, said only a matter of law was involved and no new testimony should be necessary. Louisiana has a motion before the court asking permission to bring in testimony and documents.

Gremillion asked the Supreme Court to deny the federal motion, saying, in part, if the court "can and will take judicial notice of such documents, diplomatic correspondence, treaties, contemporary construction, international law, then Louisiana is entitled to a judgment on the pleadings recognizing its boundary as extending three marine leagues (10 1/2 miles) from its coast. . . ."

The state argued its seaward border existed before Louisiana entered the Union, and "the existence of this boundary requires that the motion of the United States for judgment against Louisiana be denied as a matter of law."

If judgment should not be denied as a matter of law, Gremillion continued in his brief, then "it should be denied because any attack made by the U. S. on validity of said boundary would involve genuine issues as to material facts. . . ."

Louisiana renewed its bid for a pre-trial conference.

ATOMIC-POWERED CAR OF THE FUTURE?—Motorists, take note! You are looking at the model of what may be the atomic-powered car of the future. This is the Nucleon, a 3/4 scale model developed by Ford Motor Company. It features a power capsule, suspended between twin booms at rear which would contain a radioactive core providing motive power. Core could be recharged periodically at charging stations which would largely replace service station as we now know it. Cars like the Nucleon might be able to travel 5,000 miles or more, depending on size of core, without recharging. (AP Wirephoto)

Youth's Plan For Call Girl Racket Nipped

OLATHE, Kan., Feb. 14 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies claimed today they had nipped plans of a 19-year-old youth for a teen-age call girl operation in the metropolitan Kansas City area.

Roger Hawkins, 19, is being sought on a warrant charging him with "enticing a female person to leave the state for the purpose of prostitution."

A 16-year-old boy is being held under similar charges and three girls have been questioned. Their names were withheld because of their ages.

Sheriff's Detective Jack Williams said the girls, one 17 and two 14, said Hawkins had asked them to become members of the ring and promised them they would make big money. Williams said two of the girls had agreed to work as call girls.

At Hawkins' home, officers said, they found a box of records, a card file containing the names of a dozen girls, a list of cab drivers and hotels and motels.

Williams said officers also found cards bearing the legend, "Enter-

Fire Ant War Successful On Atchafalaya

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—The fire ant menace has been fought successfully on a 55-mile front along the Atchafalaya River, levee board Supt. Julius E. Roberts said today.

The river levees were treated by air two months ago with no loss of fish or wild life. A third check last week showed few ants.

"On our next check we expect to find even fewer," Roberts added.

"The imported fire ant has become a menace to levees," Roberts stressed. "They build big porous mounds and laterals that lead 25 or 30 feet away from the mounds. These tunnels could go through the levee and weaken them. Seepage could be great during high water."

The 55-mile target area, totaling 3,570 acres, is dotted with camps and cabins where at least 200 families live. It is the west Atchafalaya basin protection, extending from Bayou Courtableau in St. Landry Parish to Charenton in St. Mary Parish.

Actual administration of the act is carried out by the Federal Petroleum Board which has offices at Kilgore, Houston and Midland in Texas and at Lafayette, La.

An interior spokesman said he had heard nothing to indicate any personnel changes on the board are planned.

Vacation visitors in New Hampshire spend an estimated 200 million dollars annually, the State Planning and Development Commission reports.

Geological Survey Takes Hot Oil Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Administration of the Connally Hot Oil Act will be shifted from the Office of Oil and Gas to the Geological Survey, both are in the Interior Department.

President Eisenhower issued Wednesday an executive order giving the Secretary of the Interior authority to make such provision in his department as he may deem appropriate to administer the act. Heretofore there has been a specific order for the Office of Oil and Gas to supervise the administration.

"The secretary is assigning the functions involved to the geological survey," the White House announcement said.

Interior officials said Seaton has not yet signed papers to effect the transfer.

The Connally Act prohibits interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of certain state oil and gas conservation laws.

Actual administration of the act is carried out by the Federal Petroleum Board which has offices at Kilgore, Houston and Midland in Texas and at Lafayette, La.

An interior spokesman said he had heard nothing to indicate any personnel changes on the board are planned.

Love Pact Pair Agrees To Return

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 14 (AP)—Parole violator Walter F. Donnelly, 38, and his wife's 15-year-old niece, who came here with him, today agreed to return to Brookline, Mass., and face charges against them.

Donnelly and Roberta Burke, who Donnelly said made a "pure love" pact with him, waived extradition, Sheriff Willie Waggoner of adjoining Bossier Parish said.

After their arrest in a tourist cabin last Monday, Donnelly told officers his "pure love" pact with Miss Burke required that he would not "touch" her until she was 16 and he was free from his wife.

The coroner, Dr. C. H. McCuller, said an examination showed the girl was not molested.

Sheriff Waggoner said warrants issued in Brookline charged Donnelly with unauthorized use of a vehicle and for being a parole violator, and Miss Burke with being a run-away.

The two were held in jail pending their return to Massachusetts.

They were arrested here after employees of a department store accused Donnelly of attempting to shoplift articles. Officers trailed him to the cabin where he and Miss Burke were living.

Donnelly told officers he was convicted of statutory rape on a 15-year-old companion of the Burke girl four months ago and was placed under a two-year suspended sentence and three years probation.

He said he left his wife and five children last month for the teen-ager. They came here about three weeks ago.

Grand Jury Indicts Negro For Assault

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—The Calcasieu Parish Grand Jury yesterday indicted a 25-year-old Negro for the aggravated rape of the wife of an Air Force officer.

The indictment was returned against Odell Sandlin, a former airman at Lake Charles Air Force Base.

The grand jury in its final report today declined to return indictments in three other cases it was investigating. They included two slayings and a charge of misuse of city property by a city commissioner.

The rape for which Sandlin was indicted allegedly occurred last Oct. 15 in the woman's home. She said in a statement to police that Sandlin came to her house and asked her to take him back to the air base, then attacked her in the bedroom while she was dressing.

Sandlin was under charges of auto theft at the time the attack allegedly occurred and later was given a bad conduct discharge from the Air Force.

The jury declined to indict a 31-year-old waitress, Mrs. Donnie P. Glaspie, in the pistol-slaying of Lawrence P. Riley. Mrs. Glaspie told police she killed Riley with his own pistol after Riley had slain Thomas Cain, 24.

The shootings took place Dec. 5 on the street outside a night club.

No indictment was returned in the case of Ambrose Freeman, charged with the fatal shooting last July 27 of Joe Johnwell. Both are Negroes.

The jury also declined to indict city street commissioner William N. Cox, accused of misusing city property. Cox in reply to charges said he used city equipment to repair a road in a subdivision outside the city so he could get a trash dump there. He said the owner of the subdivision had given him permission to use the trash dump.

Gremillion Opposes U. S. Suit Stand

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion today sent to Washington his formal motion protesting the federal government's Supreme Court move to settle the offshore boundary dispute without further testimony.

This state takes the position in the Gulf of Mexico boundary fight with the U. S. Justice Department that testimony and documents will support its claims.

Mississippi, Texas, Alabama and Florida are in the case with Louisiana.

The federal government recognizes a three-mile Louisiana boundary in the Gulf, while Louisiana claims its historic boundary is at least 10.5 miles seaward in the oil-bearing water bottoms.

Already 90 million dollars is in escrow from oil production in disputed zones.

The federal government, in a Jan. 20 motion, said only a matter of law was involved and no new testimony should be necessary. Louisiana has a motion before the court asking permission to bring in testimony and documents.

Gremillion asked the Supreme Court to deny the federal motion, saying, in part, if the court "can and will take judicial notice of such documents, diplomatic correspondence, treaties, contemporary construction, international law... then Louisiana is entitled to a judgment on the pleadings recognizing its boundary as extending three marine leagues (10 1/2 miles) from its coast."

The state argued its seaward border existed before Louisiana entered the Union, and "the existence of this boundary requires that the motion of the United States for judgment against Louisiana be denied as a matter of law."

If judgment should not be denied as a matter of law, Gremillion continued in his brief, then "it should be denied because any attack made by the U. S. on validity of said boundary would involve genuine issues as to material facts."

Louisiana renewed its bid for a pre-trial conference.

ATOMIC-POWERED CAR OF THE FUTURE?—Motorists, take note! You are looking at the model of what may be the atomic-powered car of the future. This is the Nucleon, a 3/8 scale model developed by Ford Motor Company. It features a power capsule, suspended between twin booms at rear which would contain a radioactive core providing motive power. Core could be recharged periodically at charging stations which would largely replace service station as we now know it. Cars like the Nucleon might be able to travel 5,000 miles or more, depending on size of core, without recharging. (AP Wirephoto)

Youth's Plan For Call Girl Racket Nipped

OLATHE, Kan., Feb. 14 (AP)—Sheriff's deputies claimed today they had nipped plans of a 19-year-old youth for a teen-age call girl operation in the metropolitan Kansas City area.

Roger Hawkins, 19, is being sought on a warrant charging him with "enticing a female person to leave the state for the purpose of prostitution."

A 16-year-old boy is being held under similar charges and three girls have been questioned. Their names were withheld because of their ages.

Sheriff's Detective Jack Williams said the girls, one 17 and two 14, said Hawkins had asked them to become members of the ring and promised them they would make big money. Williams said two of the girls had agreed to work as call girls.

At Hawkins' home, officers said, they found a box of records, a card file containing the names of a dozen girls, a list of cab drivers and hotels and motels.

Williams said officers also found cards bearing the legend, "Entertainment Inc." and listing Hawkins' telephone number.

Fire Ant War Successful On Atchafalaya

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 14 (AP)—The fire ant menace has been fought successfully on a 55-mile front along the Atchafalaya River, levee board Supt. Julius E. Roberts said today.

The river levees were treated by air two months ago with no loss of fish or wild life. A third check last week showed few ants.

"On our next check we expect to find even fewer," Roberts added.

"The imported fire ant has become a menace to levees," Roberts stressed. "They build big porous mounds and laterals that lead 25 or 30 feet away from the mounds. These tunnels could go through the levee and weaken them. Seepage could be great during high water."

The 55-mile target area, totaling 3,570 acres, is dotted with camps and cabins where at least 200 families live. It is the west Atchafalaya basin protection, extending from Bayou Courtableau in St. Landry Parish to Charenton in St. Mary Parish.

"Some of the card, were passed out to cab drivers," Williams said. "The drivers were to get the customers and call Hawkins."

Geological Survey Takes Hot Oil Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—Administration of the Connally Hot Oil Act will be shifted from the Office of Oil and Gas to the Geological Survey. Both are in the Interior Department.

President Eisenhower issued Wednesday an executive order giving the Secretary of the Interior authority to make such provision in his department as he may deem appropriate to administer the act. Heretofore there has been a specific order for the Office of Oil and Gas to supervise the administration.

"The secretary is assigning the functions involved to the geological survey," the White House announcement said.

Interior officials said Seaton has not yet signed papers to effect the transfer.

The Connally Act prohibits interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of certain state oil and gas conservation laws.

Actual administration of the act is carried out by the Federal Petroleum Board which has offices at Kilgore, Houston and Midland in Texas and at Lafayette, La.

An interior spokesman said he had heard nothing to indicate any personnel changes on the board are planned.

Vacation visitors in New Hampshire spend an estimated 200 million dollars annually, the State Planning and Development Commission reports.

Love Pact Pair Agrees To Return

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 14 (AP)—Parole violator Walter F. Donnelly, 38, and his wife's 15-year-old niece, who came here with him, today agreed to return to Brookline, Mass., and face charges against them.

Donnelly and Roberta Burke, who Donnelly said made a "pure love" pact with him, waived extradition, Sheriff Willie Waggoner of adjoining Bossier Parish said.

After their arrest in a tourist cabin last Monday, Donnelly told officers his "pure love" pact with Miss Burke required that he would not "touch" her until she was 16 and he was free from his wife.

The coroner, Dr. C. H. McCuller, said an examination showed the girl was not molested.

Sheriff Waggoner said warrants issued in Brookline charged Donnelly with unauthorized use of a vehicle and for being a parole violator, and Miss Burke with being a run-away.

The two were held in jail pending their return to Massachusetts. They were arrested here after employees of a department store accused Donnelly of attempting to shoplift articles. Officers trailed him to the cabin where he and Miss Burke were living.

Donnelly told officers he was convicted of statutory rape on a 15-year-old companion of the Burke girl four months ago and was placed under a two-year suspended sentence and three years probation.

He said he left his wife and five children last month for the teen-ager. They came here about three weeks ago.

Many Cases Heard In District Court

Fifteen persons pleaded not guilty to charges involving gambling yesterday afternoon before Judge David I. Garrett in Fourth District Court.

Date of trials will be set at a later time. Those arraigned yesterday on charges of conspiracy to commit gambling were: Paul J. Brusca, P. D. Cernigliaro, Miss Ernestine Crossley, J. E. Farmer, Bert Hatten, Miss Rose M. Kirkland, Sig Lett, Evans Robert Marshall, N. B. McMullen, W. S. Patton, Jack Pearl, and Mrs. Katherine Smith.

Arraigned on charges of failure to file lists of members and officers were: Farmer, Wiley Joe Gates, Miss Kirkland, Marshall on two counts, McMullen, Mrs. Smith, Frank P. Tichell Jr. and Leo C. Tichell.

Miss Kirkland was also arraigned on a gambling charge. In other cases, Dewey M. Horne and Joseph Brown each admitted driving while intoxicated and were fined $300 or 60 days.

A. J. Jones pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was remanded for sentencing. Hardie Sullivan was tried and found guilty of driving while intoxicated. He was listed on the court docket as a second offender. Sentencing did not take place yesterday.

Cartinus Rollins was called on bond, when he failed to appear for trial on a charge of driving without a chauffeur's license. The case against Charles Floyd Scott, who had been charged with reckless driving, was dropped.

Continued without date was the case against Joe Baker, charged with theft of a radio worth $15.00. Charges of theft of property worth less than $20, lodged against Bobby Jo Ross, were dropped.

On charges of simple burglary, Joe Fletcher, 19, pleaded guilty and James Goldsmith, 17, held on the same charge, denied any guilt. Both admitted another count of simple burglary. Goldsmith denied a charge of theft of a car worth $200.00, but Fletcher pleaded guilty to the offense.

Fletcher also admitted simple burglary of a movable and theft of another auto worth $250.00. They were remanded for sentencing. With Goldsmith to be tried later on charges lodged against him.

Dee Gray Jr., 28, admitted theft of $265.00 and was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary. George O. Dyer will be tried on May 8 on charges of theft of a car worth $2,000.00. Jim Ellis pleaded guilty to theft of items worth $94.75 and was remanded for sentencing.

Slated for trial on May 5 is C. A. Nowlin, charged with simple burglary of a movable and with jumping bail bond. Joe Farmer will be tried on May 20 on charges of aggravated battery.

A fine of $5.00 and costs or 24 hours in jail was meted out to Birdie Mae Brown, who admitted disturbing the peace. Courtland M. Fite also admitted disturbing the peace, was fined $6.00 and cost.

Reckless driving resulted in fines of $25 or 10 days for Willie Harris, John L. Logan Jr., Miss Mattie B. McHenry and Henry Mitchell. Miss Rosalyn R. Ray was also fined $25 on the charge.

Slated for trial on March 28 on reckless driving charges are David L. Lawrence, Miss Beulah L. Baskin, and on March 21, Mack O. Smith.

Thomas L. Early will be tried on March 21 on charges of driving with improper lights. Driving without a license cost Willie Jackson $25 or 10 days in jail.

Called on bond were Billy Wallace Jones and Henry Singleton, both charged with speeding, and Walter E. Stephens, charged with reckless driving.

For operating a vehicle without a chauffeur's license, Willie Hines, and Jessie Lee Perkins were each fined $25 or 10 days, Perkins was also fined an additional $25 or 10 days for failure to post bond, with the fine to be suspended on payment of costs.

or six days in jail. Marshal O. Smith pleaded guilty to a peace charge and was fined $15.00 or 48 hours.

Vagrancy netted Walter T. Guffey 30 days in jail.

Decisions Twenty-four hours in jail or a $25 fine was levied on Clarence James Sanders, charged with driving without a license. The fine was to be suspended on payment of costs.

WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — Precipitation is due in an area from the Great Lakes southward through Tennessee and North Carolina with rain on the southern edges of this area. J. H. Woodall, Garages Nearly Veteran Rail Missing Item Engineer, Dies

BOSSIER CITY (Special) — J. H. Woodall, 67, formerly of Monroe and Calhoun, died at 6 last night in a Shreveport hospital. An employee of the Illinois Central Railroad for 40 years, he was the engineer on an IC passenger train which collided with a loaded fuel truck near Shreveport on Feb. 12, and was injured in the wreck.

Mr. Woodall had resided in Bossier City for several years. He was a member of the Urim Masonic Lodge in Calhoun; of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; of the Doty - Summer Post 191, American Legion in Bossier City; and a charter member of the Men's Bible class at the First Methodist church. He was also a veteran of World War I.

Funeral services will be at the First Methodist church in Bossier City at 2 p.m. tomorrow, with the Rev. Alfred Brown officiating. Interment will follow in the Hillcrest cemetery, under direction of Rose-Neath Funeral Home of Bossier City.

Survivors include his widow, the former Miss Carrie Pettie of Calhoun and Monroe; two sons, J. H. Woodall Jr. of Dallas, Tex., and James Woodall of Mobile, Ala.; four grandchildren; two brothers, R. V. Woodall of Bossier City; and H. B. Woodall of New York City; and one sister, Mrs. Mattie Hamm of Farmerville.

Four Trapped In Snowslides At Ouray, Colo.

OURAY, Colo., Feb. 14 (AP) — Four men were trapped in snowslides five miles south of this mining community today and are presumed dead.

Sheriff Bud Scott identified the men, missing under mountains of snow, as Ted Mason, 40; Walt Smith, 40; Danny Gerrell, 27; and Mike Muransky, all of Ouray.

Scott said Mason and Harry Peck were walking about five miles south of Ouray when the first slide cut loose. Mason was buried under the roaring avalanche but Peck managed to escape.

Peck walked about a mile and a half to the Camp Bird metal mine to summon help. Smith and Gerrell, employees of the county, and Muransky set out with two crawler-type tractors. They were joined by a group of miners.

Scott said the party battled the snow for some time without finding any trace of Mason. Joe Martinez, 70, one of the party went back to the mine to pick up some lunch for the men.

Lodged in city jail on all three charges was J. W. Fuller, 28. Police said a car parked at 300 Walnut St., was struck by the vehicle headed south on Walnut Street. The damaged vehicle was owned by B. S. Taylor, 111 Pear St., in West Monroe, and driven by his son, Billy J. Taylor.

CRUSADER DIES — Dame Christabel Pankhurst, 77, militant campaigner for women's suffrage, died in her sleep in her Santa Monica, Cal., home. (AP Wirephoto)

Negro, White Woman Jailed

LAUREL, Miss. (AP) — Jones County Sheriff Fred Walters said he arrested a 46-year-old Negro and a 36-year-old white woman yesterday and charged them with unlawful cohabitation.

Cohabitation between the races in Mississippi carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in state prison. Walters said he led the raid early today on a warrant signed by the woman's husband. He said he found the Negro and the white woman asleep in the Negro's bed.

Walters declined to identify either party but said the woman had four children and the Negro was a neighboring tenant farmer who did odd jobs around her home.

The Negro denied ever having been intimate with the woman but she said they had been intimate Feb. 3.

The sheriff said the Negro and the woman had been drinking last night.

State Troopers Move To Smash State Gambling

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14 (AP) — State troopers were scheduled to begin checking two parishes tonight for gambling operations.

Capt. Julius P. Fried, headquarters commander of troop "B," said he had orders to bypass the sheriffs in Jefferson and St. John the Baptist parishes, where gambling has been reported flourishing in recent months.

Fried said state police Supt. John Nick Brown in Baton Rouge demanded the action. Brown's policy has been to cooperate with sheriffs by notifying them of gambling violation reports.

Fried said he issued ultimatums last night to sheriffs William Coci of Jefferson and Percy Hebert of St. John the Baptist.

The sheriffs were told, he said, "that gambling must go or state police would move in. Now the deadline has passed. Tonight troopers start checking the parishes."

Tax Assessor Discounts 1957 Census Figures Ouachita Parish Tax Assessor Bert Coverdale yesterday discounted a 1957 census by the department of commerce, which figured the Ouachita Parish tax assessment at $44,131,000.

"The 1957 assessment for the parish was $9,421,900," he revealed, adding that he had no idea where the census got the incorrect figures.

In 1941, the Ouachita Parish assessment was slightly over $44 million — but that was 17 years ago and even those figures did not tally with the "latest" government report, he added.

City To Check For Sanitary Code Violation

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard yesterday said the city will start inspecting premises in "certain areas of town" Monday to check violations of the sanitary code.

Howard said a city employee would be assigned to the task full-time to check some areas

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Librarian Tells Of New Nations

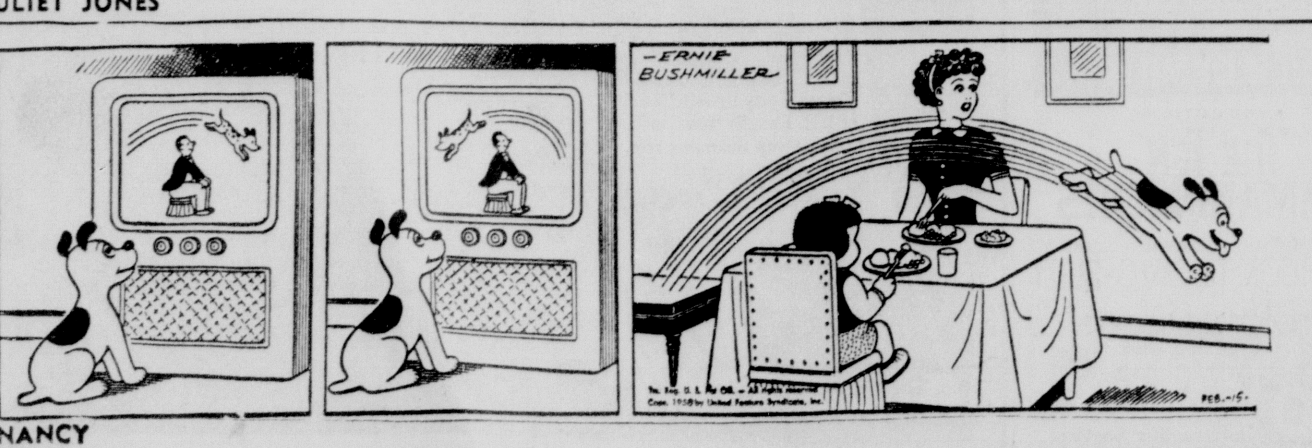

GRAMBLING (Special) —Dr. L. D. Reddick, head librarian at Alabama State College in Montgomery, and well-known Negro historian, described six new nations of Africa to a large audience at Grambling College yesterday.

The occasion for the address was the celebration of Negro History Week, observed each year in connection with Lincoln's birthday.

Reddick said that Negro students should know more about their history, and that they could perform a real service by telling of the growth of African nations.

NEW HALL AT KI-RO-LI—Breaking the ground for the construction of a new lodge and dining hall at Camp Ki-Ro-Li are (left to right) Claire D. Hickey, committee chairman, Ellis Ross, C. L. Gilbert and W. P. Morrow. Construction is now underway and will be completed well in advance of the opening of summer camp.

Scout Lodge, Hall Projects Are Launched

Construction of a new central lodge and dining hall at Camp Ki-Ro-Li is underway, according to Claire D. Hickey, chairman of the camp development committee. Hickey said the new dining hall, which he explained would be much larger than the present construction, would be completed well in advance of the opening of summer camp.

"Many months of planning have gone into the building and Scouters will be used to build the lodge," Hickey stated. C. L. Gilbert will supervise the construction.

Labor Donated

Labor on the building will be donated from various trade unions, it was pointed out.

Hickey said donations are still being received and he explained that memorial and special gifts will be accepted. Ouachita parish gifts will not be asked for in compliance with the United Fund, but unsolicited gifts will be accepted anytime.

A ground breaking ceremony at the site of the new building has been held.

Candy Faces 15 Years On Drug Count

DALLAS (AP)—Blonde stripteaser Candy Barr faced 15 years in prison yesterday after deliberating two hours and 45 minutes.

A jury here convicted the exotic dancer and assessed the penalty yesterday after deliberating two hours and 45 minutes.

The dancer, charged and tried under her true name, Mrs. Juanita Dale Phillips, showed little emotion at the verdict.

"It was an unfair verdict," the shapely Candy said to reporters, "but my spirit is not broken."

Attorneys said quickly they would appeal. Courtroom fans said the defense lawyers appeared more shocked than the dancer at the penalty.

The nightclub entertainer tried unsuccessfully to make a last-minute appeal in her own behalf. She had not previously taken the witness stand.

But as attorneys ended their arguments, she walked before the jury which included one woman and said: "I've made a few notes here and I want to tell you I didn't intend to violate any law."

Prosecuting attorney James Allen interrupted, saying she was going outside the evidence in the case.

"Please, may I continue?" the dancer asked Judge Joe Brown. She started sobbing. Defense attorney Lester May led her away from the jury as she clutched her notes nervously.

"Defense attorney William Bracklein told the jury that police 'trapped' Candy in her apartment Oct. 27 by illegally tapping her telephone line. He said a policeman, under an assumed name, rented an apartment near Candy's and tapped the wires."

Both defense lawyers told the jury their client was "stupid" to hold marijuana for a girl friend, Mary Smith, who had testified she gave the marijuana to Candy.

Prosecutor William Alexander said Candy willingly accepted the marijuana from Mary Smith.

"She may be cute, under the evidence she's soiled and dirty," Alexander said of Candy.

ARMY PROGRAM

High school graduates may now qualify as warrant officers under a new Army program, received by the local recruiting office yesterday. Graduation from either a 28 week course in SAM Electronics Material Maintenance (NIKE) course or a 42 week SAM fire control system maintenance course, plus six months on-the-job experience in a service unit or on the staff of a service school is the requirement. Warrant officers on active duty or in the reserves may also apply for the course.
